AMENDED NOTICE.

BRANCH MAIL SERVICE BETWEEN BRISBANE AND SYDNEY, AND BRISBANE AND ROCKHAMPTON via MARYBOROUGH AND GLADSTONE, AND MAIL SERVICE BETWEEN ROCKHAMPTON AND TOWNSVILLE.

SEALED TENDERS will be received at this Office until the 29th September next, at noon, for the CONVEYANCE of ENGLISH MAILS by Steampacket, between BRISBANE and SYDNEY, for three years, commencing with the Homeward Mail leaving Brisbane on or about November 4th, 1868.

The Tenders to state the tonnage and horse-power of the steamers proposed to be employed.

It will be required that a steamer leave Brisbane with the Mails for England sixty hours before the ocean mail steamer is advertised to leave Sydney, and arrive in time to tranship the Mails.

If from stress of weather, or any other cause, the Contractor shall fail to put the Mails on board the ocean mail steamer at Sydney, the whole of the subsidy apportioned for that trip shall be forfeited.

A steamer to be in readiness at Sydney to receive the Queensland portion of the English Mail, and be despatched within four hours after the arrival of the ocean mail steamer, and deliver the mails at Brisbane within sixty hours.

If the contractor fail to deliver the English Mail at Brisbane within sixty hours after its receipt by him at Sydney, the same penalty as that mentioned in the last clause will be enforced.

Should the contractor fail to have a steamer in readiness at Sydney, to start when the English Mail packet arrives, and thereby occasion a detention of the mails, he will be liable to a penalty of one hundred pounds for every twenty-four hours the mails are so detained, or in proportion for a less period of time.

The contract will embrace the conveyance of all mails put on board, whether English, Colonial, or Foreign.

The vessels and fittings, as to boats, and space allotted for mails, to be subject to the approval of the Postmaster-General, and no person must be allowed access to the place in which the mails are deposited.

The contractor will be required to take all risks of delay through the non-arrival of the ocean mail steamer, as no claim will be allowed for demurrage.

Tenders will also be received, either separately or in conjunction with the above, for the conveyance for three years, commencing on 1st January, 1869, of the Post Office mails, once every fortnight, from and to Rockhampton and Townsville, calling at Mackay (when required) and Bowen, and remaining at each of these places to deliver and receive the mails so long as the Postmaster-General shall think necessary.

And for the conveyance of the northern portion of the English Mail to Rockhampton, calling at Maryborough and Gladstone once every four weeks, steamer leaving Brisbane as soon after the arrival of the contract steamer from Sydney as may be required.

The same conditions of forfeiture for non-fulfilment of contract to apply to both services.

The contractor to have the power to terminate the contract after six months' notice.

The Government reserve the power to terminate both or either of these contracts at any time during the three years if the service should not be performed satisfactorily, or by giving six months' notice of their intention to do so.

The amount of contract will be paid in monthly instalments, in accordance with Treasury regulations.

The contractor and two sureties (whose signatures must be attached to the tender) will be required to enter into a bond, in double the amount of the tender, for the due performance of the contract.

Tenders to be addressed to the Postmaster-General, and marked on the left hand corner, "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails by Steamer."

The Government do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any tender.

THOS. L. MURRAY PRIOR,
Postmaster-General.

DISEASES OF THE CHEST.

SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME.—GRIMAULT and CO., Chemists, Paris.—A syrup compounded with this new salt has been introduced by Dr. Churchill, for the treatment of pulmonary phthisis. Recent trials made at the Brompton Consumption Hospital, an institution especially devoted to the treatment of diseases of the chest, have abundantly demonstrated the absolute necessity of obtaining this new therapeutic agent in the most perfectly pure and neutral condition. Each table-spoonful of Syrup contains four grains of perfectly pure hypophosphite of lime, and, as compounded by MM. Grimault and Co., of Paris, this syrup is the only preparation which guarantees to the medical profession all the properties required in this valuable medicine.

We particularly call the attention of the public to the following important testimonial:—

"Lake Keilambete, Zerong,
"Victoria, Australia.

"Messrs. Grimault and Co., Paris.

"Gentlemen,—I would thank you to forward to my address your price list of medicines, &c., by return of mail. At the same time I compliment you for your Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime. I employ it daily amongst adults and children who are attacked with disease of the lungs and liver. It outvies every other preparation of the day.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

ADVICE TO INVALIDS.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE (late Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of and which is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases known as Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY and IMITATIONS.

CAUTION. — Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, FREEMAN, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See TIMES, July 13th, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, and 11s each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

O'NEILL'S ECONOMIC WASHING LIQUID is now in daily use in most of the leading Sydney families, and is acknowledged to be the housekeeper's true friend. By its means more can be accomplished in three hours than in a whole day's hard washing. The clothes require neither boiling nor rubbing, thus causing a considerable saving of fuel, time, and labour; and all dirt, grease, and stains of every description will be removed, leaving the dirtiest article a beautiful white. It is perfectly harmless to the clothes of the most delicate texture, and it will not affect the colours of prints, muslins, &c.

Prepared only at the City Drug Stores, corner of Pitt and King streets, Sydney.

In bottles, 1s 6d, 2s 6d, and 4s 6d each.

Beware of spurious imitations. None genuine without the signature of the proprietor.

N.B.—Many persons fearing that the above preparation is injurious to clothes, the proprietor begs to assure the public that such is not the case. It has been in regular use at his own house for some time before he introduced it to the public, which is the best guarantee as to its harmless qualities.

TESTIMONIALS.

BORWICK'S

Panama, New Zealand, and Australian Royal Mail Steamship Kaikoura.

Mr. Borwick, May 28th 1867.

Dear Sir,—Having been chief pastrycook at the Royal Hotel, Sydney, for the period of eighteen months, and for the last sixteen months pastrycook and baker on board the above ship, I have great pleasure in recommending your Baking Powder to the notice of the public. During the above periods I have constantly used it, and consider it the best preparation of the kind that ever came under my notice.—I have the honour to remain yours truly,

RICHARD ADAMS.

BAKING

Having tried Borwick's Baking Powder, we consider it invaluable, especially in passenger and emigrant ships, as it makes bread and pastry light and digestible, effecting a great saving in time and labour, as the bread is prepared in a few minutes, instead of the ordinary slow process of fermentation by yeast.

The undersigned would merely add, for the information of persons who may wish to invest, that he has a first-rate business connexion at Shortland, having been identified with the place from the first opening of the Gold-field, and his only reason for wishing to dispose of it is, that having an establishment of some twelve years' standing in Auckland, with trade rapidly increasing at both places, he finds he cannot give the necessary attention to all. THE A. S. N. CO.'S S.S. WONGA WONGA.—We are glad to welcome the return of this noble vessel to the trade between Sydney and Melbourne, in which she has been so long and favourably known, and it may perhaps not be out of place to mention the extensive alterations and improvements which have been lately effected to the hull, machinery, and passenger accommodations. The hull of the vessel has been lengthened to the extent of 37 feet, and raised upon 7 feet, by which her gross tonnage has been increased from 697 to 1002 tons. She now measures 683 tons register. She has been provided with new boilers, and, besides having had her engines thoroughly overhauled and refitted, an additional cylinder and surface condenser have been added, by which her steaming capabilities are increased to 280 nominal horse power. The additional cylinder being exclusively an improvement suggested by Mr. Jaffray, the company's superintendent engineer, has, as evidenced on her late trial trip, materially increased her speed, as on that occasion she ran at the rate of 12½ knots per hour, with considerable reduction in expenditure of fuel. The management have undoubtedly kept in view the increasing importance of the passenger traffic on this line. An inspection of the interior fittings of this fine vessel will, we are sure, convince observers that neither expense nor trouble have been spared to render her accommodations for all classes most complete and comfortable. The saloon has enclosed and other berths for forty-eight passengers, and the ladies' saloon, newly constructed, extends the whole breadth of the ship, having ports at either side, and is capable of accommodating twelve ladies. Attached to the saloon are plunge and shower baths, and other conveniences. The cabin arrangements appear to have received particular attention, being quite equal to those of the saloon of the generality of steamers, the berths being all enclosed, and steward and stewardess provided to attend to the comfort of passengers; and as the scale of charges is proportionately lower than in the saloon, an excellent opportunity is afforded to parties travelling on pleasure who may be economically inclined. The steerage is so constructed that passengers have sufficient room, and uninterrupted ventilation from a range of side ports which do not necessarily require to be closed in any weather, owing to their great height from the water. There are also enclosed cabins for families, and all other requisite conveniences. The deck affords a magnificent promenade of 180 feet in length, and in wet weather there is ample space on the main deck for recreation, with a free current of air from side ports. Experience has evidently dictated the desirability of providing separate compartments for different descriptions of cargo; and we notice in this vessel that that great desideratum has been well cared for, such goods as tea, and other delicate packages, will be kept apart from heavier and more bulky commodities, and for their storage a room 80 feet by 26 feet has been reserved. Fruit and other perishable produce being exports of considerable importance have not escaped due consideration in the general arrangements. With such goods the two great requisites, free current of air combined with perfect security from pillage, are indispensable, and the difficulty which has heretofore been experienced in these respects has been overcome by allotting for such goods an exclusive compartment, which not only receives a current of air from side ports, but by ventilators from the deck, whilst gratings supply the places of the ordinary hatch coverings. In conclusion we need only mention that the Wonga Wonga is commanded by Captain Brown, late of the Alexandra, and other vessels of the Company's fleet, which is in itself a sufficient guarantee that the safety and comfort of passengers will, in every respect, be carefully studied. She leaves this afternoon for Melbourne.

The arrivals yesterday include the Pacific and Amy Robsart, from Baffle Creek, and Pioneer from Port Fairy. The schooners from the northward bring full cargoes of tallow, hides, and skins, and the Pioneer a freight of potatoes. It is likely that the latter vessel will proceed to Brisbane.

The Lady Young (s.) left the wharf at Brisbane on the 26th instant at 11.30 p.m., came out by the South Passage at 4.30 p.m., rounded Point Lookout at 5.15 p.m., passed South Solitary at 11.30 a.m. 27th, passed Smoky Cape at 3.45 a.m., passed Port Stephens at 4.10 a.m. 28th, and entered Sydney Heads at 11.30 a.m., arriving at the Company's Wharf at 12.10 p.m. yesterday.

The Fire King (s.), from the Manning River, brings the following cargo:—1000 bags maize, 27 bales tobacco, 47 bags oysters, 20 bags bacon, 30 cases eggs, 27 coops poultry, 53 pigs, 70 hides, and 40 bags potatoes. She left the Manning Bar at 3 p.m. on the 27th instant; passed Seal Rock Point at 8 p.m., Port Stephens at 11 p.m., and arrived alongside the Caledonian Wharf at 10 a.m. on the 28th; had strong northerly wind and fine weather throughout. The only vessel in the river was the Countess of Belmore; she was on her way to the Bar, loaded for Sydney.

The steamer Boomerang, carrying as usual a large cargo of general merchandise, left yesterday afternoon for Gladstone, Bowen, and Cleveland Bay.

The steamer City of Melbourne arrived from Melbourne at half-past 12 o'clock this morning. She left Sandridge on Wednesday, August 26th, at 3 p.m., and cleared Port Phillip Heads at 5.40 p.m., off Wilson's Promontory at 2.45 a.m. on the 27th, rounded Cape Howe at 9 p.m., and entered Sydney Heads on Friday, 28th, at 11.30 p.m., and arrived alongside the Wharf at 0.30 a.m. this morning. Passed steamer City of Adelaide on Thursday, August 27th. Experienced fresh W. and W.S.W. winds to Wilson's Promontory, from thence to Cape Howe moderate northerly winds; since then blowing hard from north and eastward with heavy squalls.

THE LEICHARDT (s.).—This vessel, belonging to the A. S. N. Co., arrived in Sydney on Monday, 24th instant, for the purpose of being cleaned and undergoing the usual overhaul, and it is only necessary to say that she leaves again to-day to prove her being perfect both in hull and machinery. The Leichardt has been constantly running between Brisbane and Rockhampton for the last thirteen months. She was originally fitted with boilers constructed on Rowan's principle (which was patented), but after eighteen months' service they were found to be defective and totally unfit. She was then supplied with a pair of boilers taken out of the Florence Irving (s.), and specially reconstructed by Mr. Jaffrey, the A.S.N. Co.'s superintendent-engineer, and it must be highly satisfactory to the directors of the company to know that, on examination, after twelve months' service, the boilers, as placed in the ship at the Company's works, are in as good order as when first supplied. In addition, we may state that she has attained during the past twelve months a higher rate of speed, on a smaller consumption of fuel, than before the alteration of the boilers was made. The surface condensers supplied to this vessel act admirably, no oxydation having taken place.

The clipper ship Alexander Duthie, Captain Douglas, leaves to-day, for San Francisco. Among her passengers are included Mr. Lyster's celebrated opera troupe.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.—Hastings Jetty Light.—Mariners are hereby informed that on and after the 1st September next a bright white light will be exhibited between sunset and sunrise from a lamp erected on the Hastings Jetty at Western Port. The light is twenty-five feet above low-water level, and visible in clear weather a distance of five miles.

VESSELS EXPECTED.—From London: Martha Birnie, 99 days; Sarah Grice, 86 days; Cingala, 81 days; Harlaw, 78 days. From Liverpool: Stewart Lane, 99 days.

THE TASMANIAN RAILWAY.—We observe from the Tasmanian papers of the 22nd instant that work has been begun on the railway contract. Jingler's Gully is the scene of the labours of the navvies.

THE ROAD TO LITTLE BOMBAY.—Since the Government discontinued the usual annual grant (says the Braidwood Dispatch) which was allowed to Cole's new line of road to Queanbeyan for two or three years after it was opened, the road between here and Little Bombay has been in a shocking bad condition owing to the large amount of traffic upon it from and to Queanbeyan. Representations having been made to the Government as to the inconvenience to which the settlers and diggers in this neighbourhood were subjected in consequence of the road being so cut up by the through traffic and no repairs being effected upon it, the Government recently granted a sum of £50 to the trustees to lay out upon it. The contract for the necessary repairs was given to Mr. Cole, and the improved state of the road attests the advantageous manner in which this small sum of money has been laid out.

GOLD AT SHELLHARBOUR.—We (Kiama Independent) are informed by Mr. T. Henry that the work of prospecting on the Shellharbour beach has been conducted to a highly successful issue. On Tuesday last, gold in remunerative quantities was found below the sand between tides at the beach adjoining Mr. Edward Killalea's farm. The available area, which is but small at this place, has all been taken up by Mr. Henry (who, as discoverer, is entitled to a double claim), and some half-dozen others, and their success will doubtless encourage further exploration. We are informed that Mr. H. Connell has been appointed to discharge the functions of gold commissioner in the district.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1868.

THERE are vices and crimes that are so thoroughly personal in their origin and instruments, that nothing but Satanic injustice could ascribe them to any beyond the immediate circle of the perpetrators. It is, indeed, fair to show that certain ideas of right and wrong conduct to certain facts, and to combat the principle from which these spring. The object of many persons is confined to the sale of their productions. The disruption of society and the breaking down of its regular order would arrest their employment and terminate their profits. They wish only to keep alive a certain spirit in those who may be in sympathy with them. Their punishment is rather the business of a correctional police, than a high criminal code—especially as it is not the province of law to visit according to the inner character of men, but to deal with acts according to their proximate results, and to have recourse to no higher penalties than those which are sufficient for this purpose.

The history of assassination, as it is presented in the records of most nations, gives innumerable instances of these crimes committed by solitary individuals, so far as the particular act was concerned. These very persons, however, have been commonly affected by the atmosphere around them. Their imaginations are excited and their resentment fired by representations which they hear often. If viewed with calmness, they would appear to be essentially better men than many who are the abettors of sedition. They have a principle in their movement. They have a belief in their cause. They have commonly put their lives against those of other men whom they have chosen to assault. But, instead of having the encouragement of great successes, they have the omen of past schemes frustrated, and the public execration of such crimes followed by their punishment under the most frightful forms of law. It is seldom that men who are so actuated cover themselves with much artifice or calculate upon the means of escape. The deed they do they commonly attempt where detection is in the highest degree probable, and escape, if once observed, utterly impossible. We have many examples of this kind.

The most dramatic history of CHARLOTTE CORDAY has been given by LAMARTINE, who, considering the crimes of her victim, is in doubt as to the quality of her action. This young person was entirely animated by her own thoughts. She would have found no aid in her own family. She deliberately set out for Paris to effect her purpose. She sought repeatedly opportunities for its execution. She struck MARAT while he was in his bath, and she never denied her motives or her deed. Throughout the whole of her remaining life she maintained the attitude of one who was supported by an idea of patriotic heroism. She was alone.

The young German who aimed at the life of NAPOLEON BUONAPARTE avowed his purpose and declared himself to be the avenger of his subject country. The Emperor was greatly affected by the kind of risk to which he had been exposed and the intensity of the hatred with which he was regarded by a man who avowed the motive of his project, and defended it. He was inspired, however, by his own passions, and would have found no coadjutors in his own family. He was alone.

The murder of Mr. LINCOLN was indeed the result of a conspiracy. There were simultaneous acts which showed a united purpose, and the conviction of several in the plot brought home their common guilt. But even in that case, the man who perpetrated the murder seemed to have devoted himself to destruction. He might have shot the President in some of his private walks; but he thought proper to enter a public theatre—to destroy his victim in the presence of multitudes, to drop upon the stage, and there deliver in a theatrical style, with dagger in hand, the declamatory execration of a tyrant. No man who took this course could well expect to escape.

The person who attempted the assassination of the Emperor NICHOLAS of Russia is among the exiles of New Caledonia. He had, or thought he had, ground to hate the Russian Empire in the person of its Sovereign. The acts of Government are certainly more directly under Imperial responsibility, and the relatives of this man (then of good reputation) had been sacrificed in the civil war. Inspired by a feeling of vengeance, he sought, although he missed, the life of the Emperor. It was useless to look for accomplices unless in the spirit of the nation whose wrongs he professed to avenge with his own. He was alone.

These crimes are committed by persons of every class. CHARLOTTE CORDAY was imbued with the pagan philosophy of her times. The assailant of BUONAPARTE was the son of a Protestant clergyman and a philosophic dreamer. The murderer of LINCOLN was a man of fevered imagination, whose passion was for the South. The assailant of the Emperor of RUSSIA was an expatriated Pole. O'FARRELL, if not an Australian by birth, was so by early associations and an inferior ecclesiastic. Thus persons of all kinds have contemplated the same passage to glory or infamy.

The attacks upon our own SOVEREIGN seem to have been not only the acts of solitary persons, but for the most part mere ebullitions of semi-insanity or brutalised vanity. No one hitherto has pretended that these persons were the representatives of any party or the instruments of any conspiracy.

Such cases show that we need not often look any further than the perpetrator of the crime, and that if others share in the responsibility, it must be from the stimulus which they have afforded by the sentiments they have uttered. Their share is, indeed, heavy. If men of conscience, it must weigh upon them as a terrible load when they behold the effect of their extravagance. It is in vain to say they had no such thought—that, in the use of such language of criminal violence, they only intended to sell a paper or to animate a party. All who speak or write are bound to look to the probable result of their advice and the spirit it evokes; but it would be folly to draw from this fact a conclusion that an assassin must have accomplices, or that the views by which he is inspired have any immediate source but in his own disordered spirit. There are, no doubt, abundant examples of conspiracy and of the appointment of persons to carry out its plans; but their ordinary end is failure. As confidants multiply betrayers are produced. It is possible for a sincere fanatic to be animated by a perverted patriotism; but it is hardly possible to bring together a number who shall come under this definition for the commission of crime, and who, with whatever motives they may enter, will not take advantage of their knowledge to secure the ultimate purpose of their life—their own gain—by disclosing what they know. This has been the history of almost every Irish plot. The Government has had placed at its disposal any quantity of information if it has only been inclined to pay for it. It appears that almost all the facts as they turned out were communicated to the police in reference to the Clerkenwell affair, and that the deficiency was one of management rather than of information. This, indeed, is the safety of society, that bad men cannot long consort for an illegal and wicked purpose without, from the very nature of the confederacy itself, raising up against them those who would sell them to destruction.

Public men finally learn to discard the threatenings of murder which often reach them. They cannot be pleasant, but they are one of the conditions of power in troubled times. Any one can dispatch a threatening letter by the public post at the price of one penny. When we consider how base and ignorant many persons are and how foolish and idle are many others, we need not wonder that they are fond of exciting attention and inquiry. Letters are often sent by silly boys, at the expense of their employers' ink and paper. No public man should be surprised if, in times of much talk, he receive these letters, threatening his property, his character, or his life. Whenever such can be fairly traced home their authors ought to be punished, not for the actual danger to those who receive these missives, but as mischievous fools.

If the soldier faces the cannon; if the workman passes through perils innumerable in the performance of his task; if, wherever we move, we are liable to accident and malice—what reason can there be to permit an idle threat of a brainless fool to distract the mind or to divert from an honest and lawful purpose. These are things which must be borne with manly courage, or rather with indifference. Mud never penetrates marble. "Threatened lives last long."

THE announcement made to the electors of Kiama that a new Land Bill forms part of the Ministerial programme for the coming session will probably be hailed by Mr. ROBERTSON as good news. It must seem to him as if the Ministry were playing into his hands, and wilfully running on to their own destruction. No attempts to alter his Land Act have been successful. He has made two such attempts himself—the first in his Fencing Bill, and the second last session. The first was burked by the Assembly, and the second by the Council. There is not, therefore, any very great encouragement, either to individuals or to parties, to venture on fresh proposals. For if Mr. ROBERTSON himself has failed, he is not very likely to facilitate success on the part of others. Whatever may be the nature of the proposed Government bill, it is sure to be opposed by somebody, and the malcontents may count pretty surely on the help of the leader of the Opposition.

It argues, therefore, either very great conscientiousness or very great self-confidence, on the part of the Ministry, to face the prospect of another defeat. Mr. PARKES admits that the loss of the bill last session put the Ministry in the most critical position it has yet occupied, though he argues that the over-eagerness of Mr. ROBERTSON to follow up his victory, in which pursuit he suffered a defeat, relieved the Government from its embarrassment, and more than neutralised the rejection of its bill. But, even on this showing, the rejection of a second bill would put the Opposition again in an advantageous constitutional position, and with the benefit of experience to guide them in their tactics. It would not have been very surprising, therefore, if the Ministry had declined to submit the Land question again to the present Parliament, and had reserved it for a new Assembly; nor could any one have very severely blamed them for such reserve.

But, of course, in undertaking to replace the Land question before the same Assembly that rejected the last measure, the Government must expect to see their new bill passed. They would not voluntarily encounter certain defeat. The hope, therefore, must be based either upon the altered nature of the proposals they intend to submit, or else upon a presumed alteration in the tone of opinion. There has been nothing to indicate that the latter change has taken place. The bill of last session was, as Mr. PARKES truly states, rejected by the squatters. They read in it a proposal to raise their rents, and, being strongly opposed to that arrangement, they negatived the whole measure without any attempt to consider its qualifying or compensating provisions. There has been nothing like an expression of regret on the part of the squatters at the way in which they treated the bill, nor have they exhibited any disposition to submit to an increase of rental. On the contrary, the low price of wool, the comparative cheapness of stock, and the reduced margin of profit in the working of stations, are frequently adduced as arguments against any increase of rent at present. So far as can be gathered, therefore, if exactly the same bill were reproduced, it would meet with exactly the same treatment.

The hope of its passing must consequently rest upon a change in the character of the bill. The measure of last session was lost in consequence of a sudden and temporary alliance between the leader of the Opposition and the squatting supporters of the Government. If that alliance can be prevented from happening again—if the new bill does not anger the squatters—the Government may perhaps keep its majority, but then the bill must not contain a provision to increase the rents, and by the same token it must not contain any provision for altering the pastoral tenure. In other words, the amendments proposed must refer more to the alienation than the occupation of land. It was in order to get money for the railway to the Murrumbidgee that the Government proposed to levy more heavily on the squatters. We do not infer from Mr. PARKES's statement that it is intended to repropose that scheme this session. He speaks in general terms of the importance of extending railway communication to the south-west, but he does not say that the Ministry are going to insist on another attempt to enforce their first proposal. If the scheme does not form part of the programme for the session, its financial requirements will not embarrass the forthcoming Land Bill. There may be fresh revenue required, but, if so, it will be for the general purposes of Government, and not for a particular railway. Whatever new tax may be proposed will be a general one, and not have the appearance of a class impost.

But there are indications that the third portion of the old bill—that, namely, which provided a land immigration scheme—will, in some form, be reproduced. Mr. PARKES speaks of the importance of settling a class of freeholders on the lands of the colony; but so far as the population now here is concerned, the present law is sufficient for that purpose. The law, however, has failed altogether as an inducement to emigration. Free-selection has tempted many people in the colony to take up land, and has also tempted some few across the borders, but it has done nothing towards bringing out people from the old country. The loan for immigration has also been exhausted, and no new population is being introduced through that agency. It remains, therefore, to be considered whether there is any other way of attracting a European population—whether there is any mode by which the land can be turned to account, and whether any modification of the system which, for a time, answered well in Queensland, could be advantageously adapted to the present condition of New South Wales.

NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.—The Treasurer of Tasmania proposes to submit a motion for a penny postage on newspapers in that colony.

PRESENTATION TO THE REV. MR. BYNG.—The congregation of All Saints Church, Gundagai, presented the Rev. Mr. Byng with an address and a purse of fifty sovereigns, prior to his departure from the district.

TRIBUNAL ORDINANCE.—ERRATUM.—In Mr. Wilson's letter, of date 26th instant, instant, inserted in yesterday's Herald, in the second paragraph, under the words, "The decision of the Privy Council," &c., should read: "2nd. That this unrepealed section does apply to the colonies;" not "does not apply."

TARBAN LUNATIC ASYLUM.—On Thursday, the 27th instant, the first of a series of lectures was delivered in the Board room of the institution to the inmates, by Dr. Wardley, the acting superintendent. Mr. Statham presided. About forty of the most intelligent of the patients were in attendance, there not being sufficient space to admit of a greater number. The subject was entitled "Progress of Thought from the Classical Era to the present Day." The lecture was listened to with marked attention, and the conduct of the hearers was most exemplary. At its close Mr. Mutton, an inmate, proposed a vote of thanks to the lecturer, which was carried unanimously; and the chairman announced another lecture for the ensuing Thursday by Mr. W. Mutton; after which they separated, evidently much gratified with their treat.

SHORT-HORN CATTLE.—Two pure bred short-horn heifers have recently arrived from the Clarence. These heifers were bred on the stations of the late Mr. Clark Irving, on the Richmond River, and are now the property of Mr. W. J. Dangar, of Neotsfield, having been purchased by that gentleman. They are really magnificent animals, and will form a valuable addition to Mr. Dangar's short-horn herd. They are both large well-grown heifers, with fine soft hair and symmetrical proportions. In colour one is a deep red, and the other a rich roan. They show evident signs of their pure breeding and of the care and attention bestowed on them, and must give the beholder a most favourable opinion of the late Mr. Irving's short-horn herd. We understand that both the heifers in question are by the imported bull "Lablache" (16,353), who was by the celebrated "Prince Imperial" (15,095).

FOUND DEAD IN THE STREETS.—The City Coroner held an inquiry at his office yesterday respecting the death of a woman named Bridget Ferris. Constable Dawson stated that, about 7 o'clock yesterday morning, information was taken to the Erskine-street police-station to the effect that a woman was lying dead in Barrack-street; he at once proceeded there and found the deceased lying in front of an unoccupied store; she was lying on her left side, with her left arm under her; under her head he found a ginger-beer bottle, which was empty, but which smelt of rum; he procured a dray and removed her to the dead-house of the Infirmary; he recognised the deceased as a vagrant, who had been knocking about the streets for years, having no lawful means of support; by a document which he found upon her it appeared that her name was Bridget Ferris, that she was a native of Ireland, and about sixty years of age. John Hazard deposed to having been the first to discover the woman, and to having reported the matter to the police. Margaret Robinson stated that she kept a fruiterer's shop in Barrack-street; during the day on Thursday, she had noticed the deceased sitting on the door-step of an unoccupied store nearly in front of her shop; she saw her there at half-past 10 o'clock at night; she then went over to her, found her breathing heavily, and to all appearance asleep; when constable Dawson saw the body it was in exactly the same position as when she saw the deceased on the previous night. Dr. Schuette, house physician at the Infirmary, having been examined, the jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased died from natural causes, accelerated by exposure and neglect.

INQUEST AT BALMAIN.—An inquiry respecting the death of a woman, named Eliza Steel, was held before the City Coroner, yesterday, at the White Bay Hotel, Balmain. John Steel stated that the deceased was his wife, and was twenty-four years of age; she has left three children; she became unwell on Sunday last, and not getting better on the following day, she saw Dr Seard, who prescribed for her; she did not again visit the doctor; her illness increased, and she died on Thursday morning; a week last Sunday he had some words with his wife respecting household management; she got into a passion and seized him by his hair with both her hands; in order to release himself he slapped her once or twice on the face; he was positive he never struck her on any other part of the body; his brother-in-law, James Denison, came in at the time and saw what occurred. James Edwards, shoemaker, of Saint Peters, deposed to having been sent for by his daughter on last Thursday week, in consequence of a dispute between her and her husband; in her husband's presence, she told him that her husband's mother got her up behind the door and nearly choked her, and that her husband had illtreated her, and that her breast was very sore and painful. James Denison stated that he was brother-in-law to John Steel, and resided near to him; whilst sitting at dinner on last Sunday week, he heard high words between Steel and his wife, and he went across to see what was the matter; Steel told him his wife had taken his money; Steel went towards his wife, when she seized him by the hair of the head; Steel then struck her two or three times on the face with his open hand; he (witness) went between them and parted them; the same evening he again heard screams proceeding from Steel's house; on going over, he found deceased holding her husband by the hair of his head; Steel had his hands on his wife's breast telling her to release him; he again separated them, when Mrs. Steel ran outside the house and screamed out murder; both Steel and his wife were sober. Dr. Graham stated that he was sent for to visit the deceased last Wednesday; he found her in puerperal convulsions, and dying; he applied the usual remedies but without avail; he had since, in conjunction with Dr. Seard, made a post mortem examination; there was a bruise, or echymosis, on the left breast, which might have been caused by a blow; the cause of death was puerperal convulsions; the blow which caused the injury to the breast, or other exciting cause, would account for the convulsive fits. Dr. Seard stated that when he saw deceased on Monday last she was suffering from ulcerated sore throat; he prescribed for her; he next saw her on Wednesday, when he found her suffering from quinsey of the throat; she was extremely ill, and was in a nervous hysterical condition; he treated her in the usual manner; in the evening he found her in strong puerperal convulsions; she died on the following morning; he had since made a post mortem examination which led him to the conclusion that the cause of death was puerperal convulsions; he would not take it upon himself to say whether the injury to the left breast caused the convulsions; but such an injury in the deceased's then pregnant state would be likely to cause them, coupled also with any excitement of mind. Verdict: "Died from natural causes."

CANTERBURY.—A public meeting was held at the Rising Sun, Canterbury, on Monday, the 24th, pursuant to notice—Mr. Luke Featherstone in the chair. The chairman, after reading the notice calling the meeting, laid great emphasis on the following concluding words of the notice, "of having, or not having, a municipality for Canterbury; and to adopt a petition and other measures to counteract any clandestine efforts for its introduction into Canterbury." Mr. Perrott moved, and Mr. Neil Quigg seconded the first resolution,—"That the formation of a municipality in Canterbury is premature, as the neighbourhood is not in a position to bear the expenses necessarily incurred in supporting one, and that, therefore, the wishes of the majority of the householders resident in the said locality are opposed to its establishment." Mr. Perrott, in support of this resolution, made some lengthy observations to define what a municipality ought to be by the Act of the Legislature, and how its provisions and wise intentions may be, and sometimes are, defeated by the appointment of persons to office void of the necessary qualifications. He then read the petition against having a municipality, which, with the resolution, was adopted by the meeting and carried without one dissentient. It was moved and seconded, on the motion of Mr. Neil Quigg, to the effect that the movement as reported to be in operation to obtain a municipality for Canterbury is not conducted in a fair and open-handed manner to meet public approbation. Mr. Quigg explained the evils that would arise and be inflicted by the introduction of a municipality into a poor neighbourhood like Canterbury and the adjacent district towards George's River; that most of the present holders of land are not in a position to bear additional burdens consequent upon the incorporation of the said locality, and that it would be impolitic in the extreme to force a municipality upon poor people against their will and inclination, which would eventually result in depriving many poor settlers of the power of holding their tenements. This resolution, being put to the meeting, was carried unanimously. The chairman then called upon any landholder present who had anything to say in favour of a municipality, to come forward and give his reasons for such. This not being responded to, the meeting closed by a vote of thanks to the chairman.—Communicated.

PRINCE ALFRED BAND OF HOPE.—The Temperance Hall being engaged last evening by the Gourlays, the weekly meeting of the Prince Alfred Band of Hope was held in the Oddfellows' Hall, Sussex-street. There was a good attendance. The Rev. Thomas Gainford occupied the chair, and addressed a few suitable remarks to the children. The children were also addressed by Mr. J. Walker, Mr. H. B. Lee, Mr. W. C. Wearne, and Mr. J. G. Catley. A number of recitations were given and songs sung, and the proceedings were closed with a temperance melody. Several additional members were enrolled.

ANNUAL UNIVERSITY FOUR-OARED RACE.—This event was pulled off yesterday, the course being, as we stated in a late issue, from Cowper's Wharf (Woolloomooloo Bay), round Fort Denison, to Holdsworth's Boat Sheds. The attendance was numerous—the aquatic amateurs mustering strong at Holdsworth's, whilst the lady friends of the competitors lent their encouraging presence on Mrs. Macquarie's Point. The betting was almost even—a presumed advantage in the boats—and another circumstance, to be mentioned anon, giving the College crew a slight preference. The start was fixed for half-past 4 o'clock, but it was nearly 5 before the Messrs. Fitzhardinge got the contestants away upon capital terms. The University crew (Yeomans, stroke) held the water first, and at once put on considerable steam, with the obvious intention of "cutting down" their opponents. Before 100 yards had been traversed, they held a lead of about a length, but shortly after passing Robinson's Baths the College crew crept up to their quarter, and seemed likely to make a capital race of it. But the steering tactics were based on totally opposite calculations;—Mr. Richardson taking the University boat close to the western shore, and, after passing the point, heading almost due north, while Mr. Greenaway pursued almost a direct line for the island, and consequently, immediately after clearing the point, his boat began to make leeway. The University boat, meanwhile, made a turn from about 150 yards west of the island, and thus got the full advantage of the west wind in rounding, while the College men were forced to make a stiff pull of about 150 yards, almost in the wind's eye, before they could round. As the boat appeared on the east side of Fort Denison, for the run home, the University boat was seen to hold a commanding lead—at least five or six lengths, and here the race was virtually over. The stiff pace at the start, and the distressing pull to windward, seemed to have "broken the hearts" of the College crew, whose efforts gradually died away in power, and they finished about thirty lengths in rear of their opponents. Mr. Donovan, who pulled bow oar in the victor boat, astonished us by the pluck he displayed throughout; for two days previous to the race he had been thrown out of work by a severe inflammation of the throat and general influenza, consequently it was expected that he would have to surrender his seat to a substitute. But he came to the scratch and pulled throughout with great spirit and endurance. After the race that "institution" the barrel of beer was disposed of in a spirit of resignation and fortitude. The usual pewters were the prizes. The winner's time, 17 minutes, was very good considering the fresh breeze and nasty sea.

MR. CHARLES COWPER.—This gentleman arrived from Brisbane in the steamer Lady Young, yesterday. He is in excellent health.

TATTERSALL'S.—There was very little business done at the meeting of this club last night. There was no betting on the Metropolitan.

COMMITTAL FOR TIN-KETTLING A MARRIED COUPLE.—At the Albury Police Court, on Tuesday, the 25th instant, George Darby, Augustus Pettiford, and Edward Dennett were charged with riot. It appeared that Mr. J. P. Smith, the poundkeeper at Howlong, had been getting married, and on returning home in a buggy with his bride he was met by the defendants and a mob of about fifteen others on horseback, who escorted him for the last six miles of his journey with an accompaniment of Chinese gongs, kerosene tins, bullock bells, horns, and other kinds of music, greatly to the inconvenience of the said Smith, and against the peace of our Sovereign lady the Queen, her crown, and dignity. It was sworn that some of the kerosene cans were thrown at the buggy, that bad language was used, and that the horse became almost unmanageable through the pranks of defendants. Arrived at the residence of the happy pair, the crowd made an infernal din for the space of about two hours, bringing their horses on to the verandah, throwing showers of stone, and smashing in the window, insomuch that the bride fainted with affright. There was no ill-feeling existing between the parties. Defendants were all committed for trial, but were admitted to bail in their own recognisances of £10 each.

THE WILL OF THE LATE J. D. M'LEAN.—In the Supreme Court, Brisbane, on the 25th instant (as reported in the Courier), Mr. Harding applied that the accounts of the administration of the estate of John Donald M'Lean, deceased, up to December 31st, 1867, filed by Arthur Hodgson and William Beit, on behalf of themselves and their co-executors, might be passed; that the period within which the executrix and executors were required to file further accounts might be extended for twelve months from April 21st, 1868, and that the executrix and the executors might be allowed, out of the assets of the estate, a commission at the rate of five per cent. upon the amounts collected by them, for the benefit and on account of the estate. Order as prayed, leave being reserved to Mr. Hardin to move that the commission be increased under certain circumstances.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE their Worships Messrs. Murphy, Oatley, Campbell, Hordern, Renny, G. Hill, and Day.

Of eleven prisoners brought before the Court, three were discharged and two were remanded.

Two persons were fined 5s. each for drunkenness, one was fined 10s. for riotous behaviour, and another was fined 20s. for using obscene language.

Joanna Hunt, a vagrant, was sentenced to be imprisoned one month.

Edward Dermody was charged with unlawfully wounding. Mary Dermody deposed that defendant is her husband; yesterday evening he came home drunk, and was very noisy and abusive; she tried her best to soothe and quiet him, but in vain; without any provocation he took her by the hair and struck her a blow over the left eye; whether he had anything in his hand she cannot say, but he inflicted a wound which bled considerably. Sarah Lawrence deposed that between 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday she went to purchase something at the shop kept by Mrs. Dermody, when she (Mrs. D.) told her that her husband was very drunk and abusive, and asked witness to try if she could induce him to be quiet; he was in or on the bed cutting tobacco, and called for some brandy; Mrs. Dermody took him some ginger beer, whereupon he jumped out of bed and seized her by the hair; he had a knife in his hand, but witness did not see him strike her with it, nor did she know that he had until she went to loose his hold of Mrs. Dermody's hair, when she saw blood trickling down her face; she then called for assistance, a policeman came, and defendant was taken away in custody. Alexander Brown, surgeon, deposed that Mrs. Dermody was brought to him by a constable; she was bleeding from an incised wound above the left eyebrow; the wound was about an inch and a half in length, but was not of a serious character; a knife, or some sharp instrument must have been used; a blow with a fist could not make the wound. Committed for trial.

On the summons paper were seventeen cases, of which four were dismissed, one was postponed, and three were not prosecuted. John Crockford appeared to answer an information filed by senior-sergeant Waters, in which he was charged with having, on the 15th August, for gain, at a house in York-street known as the Lyceum Hotel, caused to be acted a certain farce called "The Limerick Boy," to which admission was procured by tickets as the price of admission, without the written authority or permission of the Colonial Secretary authorising the said house to be used as a place for the representation of any entertainment of the stage. The prosecution was conducted by Mr. Forster, and the defence by Mr. Driver. Senior-sergeant Waters deposed that defendant is a licensed publican, and keeps the Lyceum Hotel, York-street, in this city; on last Saturday week, the 15th August, visited defendant's house; on each side of the passage are stairs leading to what were formerly called the upper boxes of the Lyceum Theatre, at each of which stood a man selling tickets for sixpence each; among others saw sergeant Sutton and constable Daggett purchase tickets and enter the place; witness went up the stairs leading to the place known as the boxes; a regular stage was fitted up, with curtains and scenery, as in a theatre, six or seven persons were playing a piece he has seen performed at the Victoria and the Prince of Wales Theatres, and in the orchestra two or three musicians were employed; the piece was a farce called "The Limerick Boy;" the performers were dressed in costume; both men and women were playing in the piece, and the scenes were shifted; four or five hundred persons were there. By Mr. Driver: The place is generally well conducted; sergeant Sutton's ticket was marked "refreshment," and entitled the holder to refreshment; witness has seen persons get brandy, rum, ale, and gingerbeer. By the Bench: Has seen refreshments paid for by ticket. Sergeant Sutton deposed that on the 15th he went to the Lyceum; he attempted to pass in, when a man said to him, "Ticket, sir," at the same time holding out a ticket; witness gave him a halfcrown, and the man returned 2s. and a ticket (produced); he went inside and saw dancing and singing; he went out, and returned, when he was again stopped, and had to pay 6d. for another ticket (produced). By the Bench: Had he been unable to read he would not have known that the tickets were marked "refreshment." Constable Daggett deposed that, on the 15th August, he went to defendant's house, and on attempting to go up the stairs leading to the boxes, a man demanded 6d. which he paid, received a ticket, and went in; he went out, and on his return told the man that he had already paid, but was refused admittance without the payment of 6d.; he paid 6d. and was admitted. By the Bench: He went to see the performance, not to get drink; he knew that the tickets entitled him to drinks; he saw persons pay for drinks with their tickets; he saw no money paid for drinks supplied there. Senior-sergeant Waters recalled, deposed that the "Varieties" form a portion of defendant's licensed premises. Defendant was found guilty, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of £5, half of which to be paid to the informer, with £2 2s. professional costs. Charles V. Howard was fined 10s., for keeping open his public-house after the hours for which he is licensed; James Tenely was fined 20s., for keeping open his house for the sale of liquours at 8 p.m. of Sunday; and Maria T. Smith was fined 40s., for allowing prostitutes to continue in her house between the hours of 1 and 2 a.m. of Sunday. Robert Tighe was fined 5s., for placing goods upon the footway. In Warner v. Maclean, a suit to recover possession of a horse illegally detained, an order was made for complainant.

THE ROSTER.—Messrs. Dangar and Bray have been summoned for Bench duty on Saturday.

WATER POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate, with Mr. G. Thorne and Mr. H. Armitage.

Auguste Bellenger, a seaman of the French ship Courier de Mer, charged with wilful disobedience of lawful commands, was sentenced to four weeks' hard labour in gaol.

The undermentioned cases were brought before the Court by senior sergeant Anderson:—Thomas Harper, allowing two horses to stray in Darling-street, Balmain, fined £2, or to be imprisoned seven days; Henry Stephenson was fined 5s. for allowing a horse to stray in Booth-street, Balmain; Henry Woods, for a similar offence, was mulct in the same penalty.

Churchill v. Williams was a proceeding under the Tenants' Act, to recover possession of premises in Dowling-street rented by defendant, who had received due notice to quit. An order was made for the issue of a warrant of ejectment, to lie in the office for fourteen days.

James Kernan and David Pierce were fined 20s. each, or to be imprisoned seven days, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct in public places; and John Greenless, for drunkenness in Jamison-street, was fined 5s. or two days in gaol.

Morrissey v. Morrissey was a complaint by a wife against her husband that he had used threatening language towards her. He was ordered to find sureties, himself in £50 and two others in £25 each, to keep the peace for twelve months, in default of such sureties six months' imprisonment.

Under informations by the Inspector of Nuisances, Arthur Scott, builder, was fined 5s., with costs, for having no hoarding or fence round certain new buildings being constructed in Liverpool-street. Elizabeth Moore was fined 10s., with costs, for allowing a water-closet on her premises to soak into Argyle-street. George Whitbread, 40s., with costs in two instances, for neglecting to keep clean premises in Stanley-street and Stanley-lane; Rose Condren was fined 40s., with costs, for neglecting to keep clean her premises in Harrington-street, and also 40s., with costs, for allowing filthy water to remain in the footway in the same thoroughfare, adjacent to her premises.

Edward Rodd v. Robert Brown was a proceeding by a seaman of the barque City of Melbourne against the master of that vessel for a balance of wages to the amount of £2 2s. 8d. It appeared to have become due before Rodd was on the articles, and hence was disputed; but their Worships held the claim, which was at the same rate as plaintiff's pay according to the articles, and ordered that the amount claimed be paid, together with costs.

THE NORTHERN AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.]

SINGLETON, AUGUST 27.

HENCEFORTH the twenty-seventh of August will be regarded as a red-letter day in the Singleton calendar. The first meeting of the above association for the promotion of good husbandry could hardly be otherwise regarded. For some time past the agricultural world of the colony has been advised of the event about to occur, and here am I in the very midst of it, to realise and chronicle the fact. Gay little Singleton is astir in her endeavour to please and be pleased. Yesterday, thunder clouds broke over the plain, and shook the faith of many a steward in the morrow. Their hearts sank like the mercury in the barometer. But,

> "When after the rain right with never a stain
> The Pavilion of Heaven is bare,
> And the sunbeams, with their convex gleams,
> Build up the blue dome of air,"—

the misgivings of yesterday are forgotten, and the sight of the sunshine bosses the mountains with prominences, and beautifies the plains which lie within their circumference. The district in which Singleton lies, owing to its richness, has attracted to it several wealthy men, and others who have grown rich by the application of well-directed industry. These men infuse a vivacity into the enterprises of the neighbourhood, and find an especial pleasure in shining out on an occasion like the present. They are proud of their little town, and have reason to be so, for it is one of the prettiest in the colony. The main streets are kerbed, the road and pathways well laid, the design of the town is good, as it is seen carved in the plain, and now and then arise buildings possessed of considerable architectural pretensions. It was to be expected that a community determined to excel in such matters should also excel in such a matter as an agricultural show—and this they have done. The ground purchased by the society consists of five acres, and is well placed for the railway. A paled fence runs round the enclosure, broken for the main entrance towards the east. This opening brings one immediately upon a well-erected shed or pavilion 100 feet long by 30 feet wide, for agricultural produce, poultry, and other matters of that sort. Extending parallel with the right side of the square are two lines of stalls and pens, one for cattle, the other for sheep. The left is given up to horses and implements. This arrangement allows of plenty of room, though as entries increase it will be found best to let the small exhibit shed run along the fence to the left. I am glad to observe that a great improvement has taken place in the arrangement of the exhibit tickets, which are now placed above the cattle. All that is wanting now is a catalogue, and this is much required, for unless by asking I cannot find out whom the animals belong to. It is pleasant to see so good a feeling subsisting between the Maitland and Singleton districts in this matter. Maitland has lent most material assistance to this show, and poured out the town on a visit to see it; it now remains for Singleton to return these kind offices, and the good feeling will then be cemented. Pecuniarily the show appears to have been a great success. Something like £134 was taken at the gate. Maitland has never exceeded £198 in one day.

The blood stock was select and good. Mr. Alfred Cobcroft's "Volunteer" took a good lead—indeed it would be hard to beat such a strengthy, compact animal. He is small—smaller than his second, Mr. Bowman's "Spartan," but then his loin and his short legs are points to admire. Of "Spartan" racing men might complain of seeing a little too much daylight underneath him. Mr. Cobcroft again comes 1. with "Bruce," a 2-year old, of wonderful merit. He is brother to "Volunteer" by "New Warrior." The six entries for yearlings showed much good breeding, especially "Captain Cook;" but a colt by "Spartan" gives the prize to Mr. Alexander Bowman, and deservedly. There can be no doubt about "Eugenie," in the blood mare class, by the same breeder, though the three other competitors were very good; but "Eugenie" is a celebrated winner on the Randwick course as those who remember her contest with "Ben Bolt" will concede. "Spartan" gives Mr. Alexander Bowman a prize 2-year old filly, as well as a prize yearling filly to Mr. M'Dougall. "Volunteer" and "Spartan" both win a second time as imported stock, also "Eugenie." One could have wished to have seen so strong-boned a horse as "Elmsdale" noticed. These awards, however, do credit to Messrs. Lackey, Buchan Thomson, and James J. Riley, the judges.

The colonial-bred draught stock make a very creditable show. Here are some horses of wonderful substance and apparently of excellent and enduring properties. The aged stallions are eight in number, and good; and the draught colts (2 years old) especially so, particularly distinguishing Mr. Richard Mayo's iron-grey colt, who is wonderfully furnished for his age. The heavy draught mares are numerous and good, a fine roomy mare of Mr. Edward White's leading. The 2-year old and yearling are neither numerous or specially good. Some of these appear again as imported stock. Three splendid Suffolk stallions are exhibited by Messrs. Dangar, J. F. Doyle, and Russell, of Ravenswood. Could not the judges have found a commendation for such a valuable breed of animals—simply by way of encouraging a good thing? "Cumberland" (Mr. Doyle's) is magnificent. There was no coaching stock.

Now for the eye of the show—the cattle. They are in great force and of great merit. The classes are generally well filled, and certainly the high repute obtained by the colonial-bred stock is somewhat astonishing. Mr. Dangar comes out strong with Shorthorns. His yearling, "King Tom," by Sincerue, is a good animal, girthing 5 feet 10 inches, but a little coarse about the horns. For the best cow prize there are twelve competitors; but here Mr. Durham's fine red cow, the "Queen," beats, while Mr. Dangar's "Dinah," a former favourite, wins amongst the heifers, although most people thought "Red Rose" would have taken the prize. Of "Grand Prince" I need hardly speak. Nothing else could win while he stood towering up in that Imported Bull class. There were only two others plucky enough to meet him. His grand dimensions seem to have impressed every one; but to have seen him to advantage he should have been shown pacing round a ring. He is from Mr. Robert M'Dougall's herd, of Essendon, Victoria, of Booth blood. His girth is 7 feet 8½ inches, his length from horns to tail 7 feet 10 inches. Across the hips he measures 2 feet 1½ inch. "Sincerue" girthed 7 feet. Mr. Jenkins's "Royal Butterfly" girths 8 feet 1½ inch. The famous Durham ox girthed 11 feet 1 inch; but this was when fat. Over these awards Messrs. Yeomans, James E. Davys, and R. A. Rodd presided. The Herefords came out nobly, as usual. Here Mr. George Loder occupied his usual place, although in some of the classes he was run hard, and in some beaten by Messrs. Wyndham. His "Abby Green" is full of good points; and is well supported by the twenty months' old, "New Year," a young bull of remarkable purity of character. In the cows, a class of seven, there is great competition, Mr. Loder taking the lead with "Miss May," and a H. C., and Messrs. Wyndham getting two H. C.'s. For the best heifers, Messrs. Wyndham wins with "Insignia;" and the two others, one Mr. Loder's, one Mr. Wyndham's, are H. C.'d. For the pen of six Hereford heifers, Mr. Loder stands by himself; and perhaps it was as well; for a more beautiful little group could not have been selected elsewhere. Mr. J. F. Doyle runs Mr. Loder's Garibaldi hard with his "Thirston" in the class for imported cattle; but Garibaldi's mellow touch, colour, and quarters are too much for him. Again, for the imported Hereford cow, Mr. Cox wins; Mr. Wyndham's "Dalwood Pet" getting very near, and their four other cows being of great merit. Messrs. Thomas Cook and Sloper Cox have given great satisfaction in making their awards. Of Devons and other stock there are no entries. I must observe, however, before going on, that Mr. Dangar's prize for the best animal in the cattle classes is won by himself. Of the fat cattle I append the prizes. They were remarkably good. The five shorthorn bullocks shown by Mr. Dangar, taken as a whole, could scarcely be excelled. There were several worthy competitors in the same class, to wit—Messrs. J. White, William Bowman, and James E. Davys.

The sheep are not numerous, and consequently one would have supposed the judges (Messrs. E. K. Cox, Andrew Loder, and Wright) would have had but little to do. The public were admitted, however, before their awards were given, so that it is fair to infer that some of the pens gave them a little trouble. Messrs. Lethbridge, J. W. Dangar, White, Piddington, Bowman, Dight, Loder were the chief exhibitors—I think the only ones—of fine sheep; and Messrs. Dight, Loder, and Dangar, of Cotswolds, Leicesters, and Southdowns. The chief honours of the pens are won by Mr. J. W. Dangar with "Rifleman," by Steiger's Gold Medal ram, born in Sydney harbour, and now twenty-three months old. For purity of type and quality of wool there is nothing else to touch him. Many men have founded a stud flock of high repute with far worse materials than he has here. The prize for the pen of five eleven-months merino hoggets is also awarded to him; and the judges, not content with the medal, add the commendation "very superior." Some regard the wool as too much forced by keep; but this is a fault which did not appear to weigh with the judges, and may easily be corrected. In the pen of five fine-woolled merino ewes he yields to Messrs. Lethbridge, who also secure the prize for the best fine-woolled ewe, as well as for the best ewe "not exceeding two teeth." These sheep, which are of exceedingly good character, are bred principally from the blood of Prince Lichnowski, of Silesia. There is evidently a determination in these quarters to run with Mudgee. Perhaps Mr. Dayly might say that the pastures are too gross for fine wool. Time will prove this. The Cotswold and Southdown and Leicester all receive attention at Neotsfield, and exhibit valuable properties. The Southdowns would be greater favourites in this district if they would shepherd in large flocks; but this they do not like. They will flourish admirably in paddocks, however, and their wool, as I learn, makes as much, or very nearly as much, money, per lb., as the merino. For farmers who follow a mixed system of husbandry this must be an admirable breed, producing as they do such quantities of fine mutton and wool, and—not the least advantage—lambs which fatten readily. Mr. Dangar won Mr. R. Weaver's prize for the best Southdown ram with a ten months old ram of great symmetry, and another prize of the same description with a second Southdown of great beauty, together with another prize for a remarkably even lot of Southdown ewes. The prize for the best Cotswold ram went in the same direction. These great sheep are somewhat laughed at here—but they need not be. Some low rich districts are far better adapted to them than to merinos or Southdowns, and they yield a large crop of wool and mutton, and will leave more money to repay their owners for keep, where they are adapted to the situation, than will the merino. Mr. Loder's and Dight's exhibits of sheep were also very good. Amongst the colonial fine wools is a good ram of Mr. J. H. Cox, and sheep of Messrs. Bettington of great merit. There were but six competing pens for the prize for five fine-woolled rams, won by Mr. Dangar. Neither was the competition very severe in the class devoted to fine-woolled ewes.

The pigs were in great force, and of singular merit. The large and small breeds have been most successfully bred. Mr. George Loder leads in this department. Of the extra cattle I say nothing.

Having occupied so much space with these details, I have little left for those of the pavilion, which are really worth notice, and have been the subject of much admiration to-day. The poultry is not a large show, but is exceedingly good. The products of the field and the garden, of course, at this period of the year are meagre; but the space is filled up with other exhibits, representing the various forms of industry attempted in the district. Perhaps the most interesting object to a thoughtful mind is the collection of minerals made by Mr. Keene, of Newcastle. They are somewhat the same that were at Maitland in March, but they are so arranged that the visitor may now know what they are, and where they came from. This improved arrangement, in fact, is observable throughout the building, and the show, and is a thing to be aimed at so long as these exhibitions are regarded as the means of instruction. This admirable display of minerals is mainly the products of the district. There are specimens of coal from all the eleven working seams; two of which, it is worthy of observation, are below the equivalent of the mountain limestone which in England is called by the miners the "farewell rock," because below this coal is never found. He has splendid specimens of amethyst crystals from the Wingen Mountain; lime, also, from below the coal seam at Maitland, evidently organic; white sulphur from Wingen Mountain; pretty black marble from the Williams River; limestone, strongly impregnated with iron, from A. A. Company's, Stroud; crystals of lime, from river bank, Singleton; alum, from Berrima; oil shale, from American Creek, at Wollongong; serpentine, from Carooray; malachite, from Peak Downs, of surprisingly rich lustre; pea iron ore, Bungonia; meerschaum, from the Richmond; fossil limestone, mingled with gold, at Calliope Goldfields, Queensland. This specimen shows in a very remarkable manner (the gold lying on the limestone) the age of this gold deposit. Gypsum, in crystal, from Morpeth was shown.

The wine occupies its accustomed place, and it will be seen that the enterprise of the Messrs Wyndham and Mr. Doyle carry the reputation of their wines higher and higher. It is yearly becoming more and more questionable whether a man can do better than refresh his soul with Bukkulla, or Kaluda, or Dalwood. Year by year they give more satisfaction, and increased profit; and year by year the area planted is extending.

The agricultural implements present several interesting and important features. Lobsey's ploughs are of excellent construction, as well as his other iron work. It is satisfactory to see local engineers, like Silver and Parkins, turning their attention to machinery. Of competent men for such work as this we are now specially deficient, and it is good, therefore, to see men coming out who are competent to construct the machines for which prizes are awarded them. The great hindrance to the introduction of good machinery is the absence of men who can repair it. And men who are competent to repair soon become able to make. Labour is dear, and therefore we have so much need to economise in this direction, by the employment of labour-saving machines, as they have in America. Amongst these implements, not strictly agricultural, but yet of incalculable prospective benefit to the squatter and farmer, is the tube well, exhibited by Mr. Keene. It seems that this is the exact fac-simile of one which was sunk twenty-eight years ago at Briscous, about ten miles from Bairitz, in the Pyrenees Mountains. He there employed it, or rather invented it, to reach the brine springs which he was convinced existed in a stratum 140 feet below the surface. It proved eminently successful, and is in existence at the present time. The firm of Portalis and Co., of Bordeaux, sent one to America the same year, and in all probability the Abyssinian well, said to be of American invention, is due, after all, to Mr. Keene's successful attempt in France. The construction of this well differs from the tube well now commonly talked about, and appears to be very superior to it for deep water sinking. The tube to be sunk is not shod with a steel point and pierced with holes. It is quite open at bottom, and possesses a free cutting circumference which comes in contact with the ground. It is driven down by a monkey worked by means of a simple frame placed over the bore. If rock is encountered a jumper is used inside this first tube, the pulley and rope of the monkey frame being used to pull it up and down. This jumper having pretty free motion within the tube makes a way of larger circumference than the tube, which is driven down to occupy the position thus secured for it. The jumpers are adapted to the rock they have to penetrate. For quitting the debris made by the jumper, a tubular jumper is used which gets filled with the material to be removed. As the bore deepens, tube is added to tube, until the water is reached. When this feat is effected, a second tube is inserted, with bucket and valves of a pump at the bottom, and is lowered, and a rod reaching to the top being there worked by the usual lever handle. The water is thus forced from the bottom to the top, not drawn up by suction, as in cases where the pump is fitted to the top tube, and there is little fear of any blocking. This form of well and pump may be made and sold for £15 or £20. The judges recommend it for a prize. There is another ingeniously contrived tube well upon the ground, exhibited by a local engineer, named Clements, and awarded the prize by the judges. This is on the same principle as those sunk in Abyssinia.

This brings my remarks to a close. Thanks to the indefatigable exertions of the stewards and to the secretary, what might very easily have turned out a failure is ranked amongst the successes of colonial agricultural exhibitions; and since the Northern Society has started so well, she will have in future the benefit of a high mark, below which she will never be content to sink. Most good things English begin or close with a dinner. This Show, not to be singular, closed with one, and a very good one, loyally attended, at the Royal Hotel. Mr. W. J. Dangar, of Neotsfield, the greatest prize winner of the day, presided, and was supported by the Hon. J. Bowie Wilson and the Postmaster-General. A considerable sprinkling of Sydney notarieties were present, and the speeches, if they were not of the most brilliant character, were well received by an assemblage evidently met to make merry.

VISIT OF THE GOVERNOR TO PARRAMATTA.

HIS Excellency the Governor, accompanied by the Countess of Belmore, Captain and Mrs. Bereford, the Chief Secretary, and Captain Hope of H.M.S. Brisk, paid a visit to some of the public institutions in the town of Parramatta yesterday. The party left Sydney by special train at half-past 10 o'clock, and on arrival at Parramatta, carriages were in waiting to convey them through the town. They first of all paid a visit to the Public School, in which there are about 240 children, including nearly 50 infants. The children were examined in geography, grammar, mental arithmetic, and singing. They sang "Rule Britannia" and two verses of the National Anthem. In the answers given to the questions put to them, the children showed a considerable acquaintance with the subjects on which they were exercised, and their singing was very creditable. The infants, who were in a separate room, appeared to have made but little advance in mental acquirements, but they were quiet, well behaved, and obeyed readily the directions of their teachers. Indeed, the school throughout appeared to be in a good state of discipline, and to reflect credit upon the head master, (Mr. Murray), and his assistants. Three hearty cheers for the Queen, and three for the Governor were given by the children as his Excellency and party left the building.

The party then proceeded to the gaol, and were received by the chief gaoler, Mr. Hussey, who conducted them through the establishment. The several wings and a large number of cells were inspected, and found to be spotlessly clean. The store-room, surgery, and hospital were next examined, and some time was spent among the sick in the hospital in making inquiries, and in listening to the representations of the sufferers. Among others was a prisoner named Courtney, who, it may be remembered, endeavoured to escape from the custody of the police while being escorted from Cockatoo Island to Darlinghurst gaol some five years ago, and was fired upon, the bullet taking effect in his right shoulder. All efforts to extract the leaden missile at the time were unsuccessful; and Courtney has suffered very much from this bullet—which was a very large one, being fired from one of the large pistols formerly served out to the police,—imbedded in his flesh. A short time since, at the prisoner's request, Dr. Pringle endeavoured to extract the bullet; the operation was skilfully and successfully performed, and, as the wound has now healed, the patient is almost, if not entirely, free from pain. Courtney made some representations to the Governor in reference to this case, and his Excellency gave him permission to prepare a written statement, to which, upon receipt, he promised to give his best attention. Another prisoner, named John Molloy, from whose flesh Dr. Pringle has also extracted a bullet received at the time of his capture, made a statement to the effect that he was convicted upon insufficient evidence,—that it was a case of mistaken identity, and that the real culprit had, since his (Molloy's) conviction, admitted his guilt. Molloy and two other prisoners, named Matthew Britton and Henry Cust, received permission to prepare written statements of their cases for submission to his Excellency. The party then proceeded to the kitchen, and inspected the cooking apparatus, &c., and thence to the workshops where specimens of the work turned out of hand by the prisoners were examined. Most of the work examined bore traces of skill, patience, and industry, the boots being particularly remarked for their neatness. The whole of the prisoners appeared to be properly and profitably employed. The number of prisoners in the establishment was 213, with an addition from Berrima daily expected.

Amongst the notorieties seen and spoken to in this gaol was Joseph Wilks, convicted, many years ago, of the murder of his wife and two children in the Clarence River district. The cold-blooded atrocities of this murderer—reprieved at the foot of the gallows—formed the subject of a series of papers recently published in the Sydney Mail, entitled, "A Romance of the Blue Books." This murderous old ruffian, said to be in his seventy-sixth year, expressed a hope that he should not be permitted to end his days in the gaol; but we should imagine, after the evidence that was adduced against him—after the particulars which have come out of his infamous career, in which, it would appear, that he has had a share in almost a score of murders—that his chance of ever seeing the outside of a gaol again is exceedingly remote.

Upon leaving the gaol—which was certainly a model of cleanliness and good order—his Excellency and suite drove to the Lunatic Asylum, and were received by Dr. Walter Brown, the medical superintendent, who conducted the party through the establishment, and afforded a good deal of information in reference to the inmates, of whom, unfortunately, there are a large number. The visitors commenced their inspection by passing through the large yard into the inner yard, wherein are confined the criminal lunatics. These, upon occasions, are exceedingly noisy, and require a large number of warders to keep them under control; but on this occasion they were very quiet. The major part of them appeared to be perfectly sane; and there is but little doubt that many of them have feigned insanity in order to be placed here with a view of obtaining some advantage—perhaps a life of listless inactivity, or induced by a hope of finding facilities for escape. Prominent amongst the patients confined in this yard was old Ridley—almost venerable in his aspect now—who years ago published the Index newspaper for the avowed object of holding up to public contempt the rites, ceremonies, and practices of the Masonic body. That publication had an erratic, perhaps brilliant, but certainly brief career; and its pure-minded editor, who appeared to mourn with grief profound over the (alleged) corruption in high places, set fire to the office in which his paper was printed, left the colony incog. when the offence was being brought home to him, and, after a self-imposed exile of some years, was captured in Victoria, brought to this colony, and convicted of the crime of arson. Some time after his incarceration, he was placed in this asylum. Whether he is really innocent or not, it is not for us to say; but we are assured by the officials of the establishment that oftentimes there is a considerable amount of method in his madness. He availed himself of the opportunity presented by this visit to place in the hands of his Excellency a letter which very possibly contained a statement of his case. Having examined this part of the asylum, the party passed through the yard in which most of the male patients are confined, and thence into the smaller yard adjoining it, and through that to the dormitories and hospital. Thence into the kitchen, where the preparation of the food for the patients' dinner was just completed. This food was wholesome in quality and abundant in quantity. There was also a brief examination of the department, under the superintendence of Mrs. Burn, in which the female patients are confined. It was a sad, sad sight indeed, to see so many poor sufferers bereft of reason, wandering hither and thither restlessly, living an aimless life, and, apparently, without a hope of anything brighter and better beyond. Perhaps the saddest sight of all was the vacant stare and the lustreless eyes of the poor little girls, idiots or imbeciles, all of them. The last part of the establishment visited was the least unpleasant of all, the garden in which the perfectly harmless male patients are confined. They were just having their dinner, and all appeared to be as contented as could be expected. One of the best known patients in this department is "the educated gentleman," who, in a fit of delirium tremens, shot down a medical man in Hunter-street in this city, and although reprieved after conviction for the capital offence, he has already paid the terrible penalty of seventeen years' incarceration in the asylum, where in all human probability he will end his days. He spends most of his time in study, and, as may be imagined, shrinks from the too inquisitive gaze of visitors. Having signed the visitors' book, his Excellency and party left the asylum; but before dismissing the subject it would be unjust to the officers of the establishment to omit to add that, considering the unsuitable character of some of the buildings, and the appliances at command, the institution was found to be in a highly efficient state.

The last visit of inspection was to the Benevolent Asylum, near the steamers' wharf. This building was originally used as a Commissariat store in the days when the colony was a penal settlement, and later it was used as a military barracks. Not being any longer required for either of these purposes it has been fitted up as an asylum for the aged and infirm. The dormitories, dining-rooms, and every other part of the building were inspected and found to be scrupulously clean. The old people appear to have every attention consistent with the requirements of so many inmates; the sick have attendants to wait upon them, and the superintendent, Mr. Dennis, appears to treat with kindly consideration the aged and infirm persons who are placed under his charge.

Benevolent institutions form one of the most gratifying features of our Christian civilisation; but it is impossible to contemplate such an institution as this without something of sadness. Here are 215 old men, who have borne the heat and burden of the day, who fought, and toiled, and suffered in the dark days of the past, when the colony was emerging from a penal settlement to a free and enlightened country, but who in the downhill of life have congregated in this asylum, and are waiting there to die.

At the termination of the inspection of this asylum, the party re-entered their carriages, drove to the railway station, and returned to Sydney. We should not omit to state that no notice whatever of the intention of his Excellency to visit these institutions was given; it may fairly be presumed, therefore, that the state of each establishment, when inspected, was as nearly as possible its normal state.

PUBLIC MEETING AT MANLY.

A MEETING was held on Monday evening, at the Church of England school-house, Manly, to take into consideration the defective state of the land communications with Sydney, and particularly the expediency of establishing a public punt across Middle Harbour, at the Spit or other suitable place.

Mr. SMITHERS, J.P., having, on the motion of Mr. ROLFE, been placed in the chair, opened the business by reading the advertisement convening the meeting, and expressed his satisfaction at seeing so numerous and respectable an assemblage of persons having property and residing in the district. He had no doubt that among so many in attendance some useful suggestions would be made, and trusted that every attention would be given to all speakers; and as there were many gentlemen from a distance it was very evident they were quite alive to the necessity of doing something, and anxious to further the purposes of the meeting.

Mr. ROLFE moved the first resolution,—"That it is desirable that improved communication by land be had between Manly and the districts beyond it and Sydney, of such a nature that horses, vehicles, and foot passengers may proceed at all hours and in all weathers between the two places." He felt it very difficult to say much in support of the motion. The necessity of better communication than now available was so patent to all, and the present state of the land route so great a difficulty and loss to every individual in the district, there could not be two opinions on the subject; and it was a matter of great satisfaction to all concerned that urgent representations would be made to supply the just requirements of the district.

Mr. FOX seconded the motion, and observed that few remarks were needed from him, for, as the mover truly stated, it was patent to every resident in Manly that it had long been felt not only to be desirable, but to be a necessity, that there should be means of access to Sydney by land, in addition to those now available, both for the advantages of the inhabitants of Manly, and very many others who would gladly avail themselves of it.

Mr. BARNARD proposed the second resolution,—"That a deputation, consisting of Mr. Smithers, Mr. Rolfe, Mr. Fox, Mr. Brady, and the mover, be requested to represent the necessities and the wishes of this community to the Hon. the Minister for Lands, and to take such measures as may be expedient to obtain constant intercourse by land with the city, by establishing a public punt across Middle Harbour." In common with the preceding speakers, he felt it quite unnecessary to make a set speech, and would be glad of any suggestions that might be made.

A desultory conversation then took place in which several gentlemen suggested matters which the deputation should submit for the consideration of the Minister.

Mr. JOHN COLLINS, of Pitt Water, seconded the resolution, and, as short speeches seemed to be the order of the evening, and as he had already explained his views in the discussion, would only add that the residents in his neighbourhood were greatly prejudiced by their inability to get their produce to market, as well as in other ways.

Mr. THOMAS ROWE moved the third resolution,—"That a special application be made for a sum of money to be laid out in making good the roads about the district, and approaches to the punt." He was glad some steps were about being taken to secure a better means of access to and from Sydney by land. He had not been very long a resident at Manly, but had often felt the necessity of better land communication; frequently he had to remain in Sydney in consequence. On one occasion, being late for the steamer, he determined to try the road and enjoy a moonlight ride to Manly for the first time. He found the road to be good, excepting the approach to the Spit. He, by a mistake, took a forsaken road down steep rocks, and with much perseverance and danger reached the Spit. After cooeying for about twenty minutes the boatman came over, swam his horse across behind the boat, and reached Manly at half-past 8 o'clock. On his return trip by day time, he managed, with all delays, to reach Sydney in 1¼ hour from the time of leaving Manly. He found the ride was delightful—the harbour scenery on the one side and a most extensive land view on the other. He had no doubt thousands would avail themselves of that drive if the road were improved, and a safe commodious punt at the spot. At present a family-man felt uncomfortable to know he could not reach Sydney at any time in case of need. The inhabitants of Manly were much indebted to Mr. Brady for his energy and ability in urging on this matter, and in bringing them together. He had much pleasure in proposing the resolution.

Mr. LAMBOURNE supported the resolution, and insisted strongly on the great occasion there was for means by which professional gentlemen should be enabled to visit the district; as it was now, but very few of those residing away from Manly, in the direction of Pitt Water, could obtain medical aid even in cases of extreme emergency. The establishment of a punt, which would be reliable at all hours, would be a matter of humanity as well as justice to the district.

Mr. BRADY moved the fourth resolution.—"That Mr. Tunks (the member for the district), Mr. Piddington, M.L.A., Mr. Thornton, M.L.A., and Mr. Egan, M.L.A., be requested to form part of the deputation, and to support the applications of this meeting with their influence, and that the gentlemen named in the second resolution be pleased to place themselves in communication with those members of Parliament accordingly, and also with the municipal authorities of St. Leonards, to obtain their concurrence and assistance." He understood that some explanations would be acceptable to the meeting, and he was desirous to read the correspondence which, at the suggestion of the chairman, had been deferred, in order that the proceedings might be as brief as possible; but, before doing so, he considered it a duty he owed the meeting to refer to the present mode of communication by water. They were all well aware of the excellent way in which the steam service between Manly and Sydney was carried out under Mr. Heselton. (Applause.) He (Mr. Brady) knew the public was highly satisfied with the punctuality and uniform courtesy of all connected with the boats since they had been under Mr. Heselton's management. Now, he had to tell the meeting that when he mooted to Mr. Heselton the subject of a communication by land at all times independent of the steamers, Mr. Heselton at once avowed his conviction of its necessity, and expressed his desire to further the object of the meeting by any means in his power. (Great applause.) There was no self-seeking in this, and he was glad to see that the meeting recognised Mr. Heselton's public spirit and high-minded conduct.

Mr. BRADY then made some further explanations, which appeared to give satisfaction to those present, and said that few persons were aware of the great beauties of the district, because there was no means by which carriages could gain access to the place. He was convinced that, once a road opened, a great number of persons would be glad to enjoy the advantages of a district notorious as the most healthy near Sydney.

Mr. DYER, in seconding the resolution, observed that hitherto the district had not received any large share of the favours of the Government, and trusted that its fertility and salubrity, which had recommended it for many years past to the inhabitants of Sydney, would secure for the deputation the attention of the authorities. He had noticed that there was some prospect of the quarantine buildings being made useful for hospital purposes. If this were the case, there would be an additional reason why there should be a possibility of uninterrupted land communication with the metropolis.

A vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. BARNARD, and seconded by Mr. EGANS, was very warmly accorded to Mr. Brady for his energy and exertions in furthering the interests of the district, which that gentleman acknowledged in appropriate terms. A similar compliment was also paid to Mr. Smithers, who, in his reply, took occasion to express his satisfaction that the liberality and spirit of Mr. Heselton had been alluded to. It would, doubtless, be very agreeable to all connected with the steamers to know that the public of Manly fully recognised the excellent management of the boats, and wished them continued prosperity.

BOTANY MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

The first annual meeting of this institute was held on Wednesday evening last, about 300 sat down to tea. The tables were provided with an abundance of good things. After tea, Mr. J. Macintosh, president of the society, occupied the chair. Apologies were received from several gentlemen who were unable to attend. The chairman called upon Mr. J. Anderson to read the annual report as follows:—

"In submitting to you the first annual report of your committee, it chronicles an epoch in the history of Botany, showing it is keeping pace with the march of improvement. As this is the first report, it may be as well to refer to the origin and inauguration of the society, under whose auspices we are this night assembled. It will still be fresh in the minds of all, the flood of July, 1867, which was so disastrous to life and property, how that, in every part of the colony, the people responded to the cry for help to succour and to sympathise with the bereaved, the desolate, and orphan; and in this the inhabitants of Botany, although many had suffered much, came forward in a praiseworthy manner to aid their less fortunate fellow colonists. To this circumstance, which had the effect of calling so many together, that formerly knew little of each other, is due the idea of forming an association that would foster a kindly feeling and tend to the moral and intellectual improvement of the inhabitants. The matter having been mooted by one of the members of the "Flood Relief Committee," it met with approval; and at a meeting, held in the Temperance Hall, 20th July, 1867, consisting of Messrs. Hooper, Stephen, Whisker, Strafford, Bricheno, and Anderson; it was agreed to invite by circular several of the inhabitants to obtain their views on the subject. Twenty-one responded to the invitation. A resolution was passed to form a society, and a committee appointed to frame rules and to convene a public meeting for the adoption of the same. A deputation waited on our worthy patron, Mr. Lord, requesting him to give the movement his help, which he most cordially did.

"On the 7th August, 1867, about 120 persons responded to public notice; the rules which were drawn up by the committee appointed for that purpose were read to the meeting and adopted. The names of as many as fifty-two were enrolled as members. Officers were elected, and the institution was publicly inaugurated on the 24th August, 1867. Mr. Lord, M.L.A., the patron, presided on that occasion; Mr. J. Macintosh, the president, delivered an inaugural address. The meeting was then addressed by Mr. Adams, B.A., Mr. Waller, and others. The evening was passed pleasantly, and the meeting was considered quite a success, there being about 130 ladies and gentlemen present.

"During the year your committee have met for the transacting of business twenty-one times. Attendance: Vice-president, 11 times; treasurer, 20; secretary, 21; Mr. Stephen, 21; Mr. Whisker, 19; Mr. Howe, 18; Mr. Eames, 6; Mr. Bricheno, 11; Mr. Tunbridge, 4; Mr. F. Macintosh, 5; Mr. Hooper, 3; Mr. J. Saxby, jun., 1. Many duties devolved upon your committee that are necessary in the organisation of a new institution. The difficulty of procuring a suitable meeting place was overcome by the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Sydney placing the Old Factory at their disposal, and kindly supplying some of the requisite furniture.

"Your committee next contemplated the formation of a library, considering it a means eminently calculated to promote the object of the institution. Their effort to further this object has met with considerable success; and they desire to take this opportunity of expressing their thanks to those who have contributed to it, especially to the Mayor of Sydney, the president, vice-president, Messrs. Craig, Wilson, Mulligan, Eames, and Luff. The library contains 127 volumes; 41 members have availed themselves of it. It is still inadequate to the requirements of the members, and it is to be hoped this branch will increase in efficiency.

"It is very gratifying to the committee to have to report that the usual fortnightly meetings have been well attended. During the year there have been nine nights devoted to essays.

"A most important feature at our meetings is the cultivation of the elocutionary and vocal powers of the members; 13 nights have been given to this, in which there have been 45 readings, 58 recitations, and 43 songs given. The subjects have been varied in their nature, and mostly instructive and interesting.

"Lectures.—The following is a list of lectures delivered in connection with the institute:—March 11, on 'Phrenology,' by Mr. W. D. Cavanough; April 8, on 'The use and abuse of the present world,' by the Rev. J. Graham; May 20, on 'The great discovery of the Central Lakes of Africa and the sources of the Nile,' by the Rev. Dr. Lang; July 8, on 'Phrenology,' by Mr. W. B. Cavanough; July 29, on 'The literary efforts of working men,' by the Rev. Dr. Steel.

"Entertainments.—May 6, a pleasing entertainment of dissolving views was given by Mr. W. Webster; and on the 10th June, Miss Aitken gave an entertainment of Readings and Recitations. Your committee desire to express their warm acknowledgments and the thanks of the members to those who have given their services on behalf of the institute. Also, to the Press for their liberal notices of the proceedings of the institution.

"It is very gratifying to your committee to state the encouragement this institution has received. The movement at first was looked upon by many as transitory, and that the enthusiasm displayed at first would soon wear off; but, by earnestness and perseverance, borne out by the liberal encouragement of our patron in offering a site for building, as soon as the society 'verged' into a mechanics' institute. In April last, the Old Factory, being required for other purposes, it behoved your committee to convene a meeting of the members and take the necessary steps to place the society on a sure basis by erecting a hall. The name was then changed from the 'Botany Mutual Improvement Association' to the Botany Mechanics' Institute. Subscription lists were issued, and in two weeks £50 was promised towards the new building. Trustees have been elected, viz.—Messrs. Lord, Macintosh, Stephen, Westcott, and Strafford. And it is to be hoped that ere long the institute will be in a position, by the aid of Government, to erect a building.

"Your committee appreciate the favours shown in providing a place for the institute to meet in—to the Right Worshipful the Mayor for the Factory, and to Mrs. Gatherall for the present meeting place.

"Officers for the ensuing year: Patron, Mr. G. W. Lord, M.L.A.; president, Mr. Alderman Macintosh; vice-president, Mr. Henry Westcott; honorary treasurer, Mr. Charles Strafford; honorary secretary, Mr. Samuel Butler, jun.

"Committee: Messrs. Robert Whisker, William Stephen, Richard Bricheno, Charles Howe, John Geddes, Thomas Correy, William Parker, George Hensley, and Edric Mulligan. Librarian, Mr. James Wilson. Auditors, Mr. Lobb and Mr. Anderson. Mr. Strafford read the financial report, which showed the income during the year to be £85 8s., expenditure £41 15s. 4d.—leaving a balance of £43 12s. 8d."

The Rev. Samuel Fox moved, and Mr. Treeves seconded, the adoption of the report. They warmly congratulated the members on the success which the institute had attained. The motion was put to the meeting, and adopted. A short programme of songs, readings and recitations was given by several of the members. A vote of thanks was awarded to the retiring officers; also to the ladies for their assistance in the first part of the evening. The meeting closed at 10 p.m., by singing the National Anthem.

It appears that a man, whose name we could not learn, was engaged with his son in moving a log in the bush. On lifting the timber, a snake sprang from beneath it. The boy immediately made a kick at the reptile, and at the same moment the father made a cut at it with his axe, but the blow unfortunately came on the lad's foot, cutting one of his toes clean off.

WINDSOR.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

Laying of the Foundation Stone of St. Stephen's Church, Kurrajong.—In spite of the unpromising appearance of the weather, and the repeated showers which fell on Wednesday morning, the 26th instant, a goodly number of persons assembled at 12 o'clock, noon, to witness the interesting ceremony of laying the foundation stone of St. Stephen's Church. The site is on the road leading from the North to the South Kurrajong, and has been chosen as nearly in the centre of the two districts as possible. The day had been long looked forward to by the members of the Church of England, and, although the rain was beneficial, some little regret was felt that there should have been anything to break the complete success of the proceedings. By 12 o'clock, however, the clouds had all dispersed, and the afternoon was a most lovely one. The ceremony of laying the stone was commenced by the reading of 132nd Psalm by the Rev. John Elder, of Richmond, in whose district the Kurrajong lies. The epistle for St. Stephen's Day was read by the Rev. G. A. C. Innes, at present taking the duty at Kurrajong, and the gospel by the Rev. C. F. Garnsey, of Windsor. The Bishop of Sydney read the usual service, commencing with the collect for St. Stephen's Day and St. Bartholomew's. He then laid the stone with the accustomed formalities, and addressed the people. Congratulating Mr. Elder on the accomplishment so far of his long cherished wishes, he proceeded to speak with gratitude for that gentleman's restoration to health, after his severe illness some months ago, and then urged forcibly and eloquently upon those assembled the claims of the new building for their hearty and earnest support. After a few words in reply from Mr. Elder, the 100th Psalm was sung; the verses being read by the Rev. Joseph Dark, of St. Luke's, Sydney; and the Bishop pronounced the benediction. Offerings were then made on the stone amounting to £17. A sumptuous luncheon had been provided in a booth adjoining, and this was now soon filled. Among the visitors present were noticed Captain Skottowe, commander of the Geelong; Mrs. Skottowe; the Rev. J. Cameron, of Richmond; and many families from Richmond and the neighbourhood. While the tables were being refilled, a further subscription was obtained amounting to £16. A public meeting was then held in the open air, at which the Bishop presided. After a warm eulogium on the exertions of the committee, and on the gift of the ground by Messrs. Jones and Lamrock, the Bishop alluded very feelingly to the great efforts that had been made by Mr. Dark, while catechist at the Kurrajong, for the work they had then commenced. He pointed out the value of the church to the residents, and the necessity for its completion in a liberal and generous spirit, and concluded by calling upon the Rev. G. A. C. Innes to move the first resolution, which was to that effect. It was seconded by Mr. Dark, and carried unanimously. The next resolution was moved by the Rev. C. F. Garnsey, conveying the thanks of the meeting of the Bishop for his attendance there that day. Having been seconded by Mr. Stewart, it was carried by acclamation, and with hearty cheers. A collection was then made, amounting to £5. The total amount collected must have been nearly £50. The meeting terminated with the doxology.

Accident.—An accident of a very serious nature occurred about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon to a lad named William Pitt, about fourteen years of age. It appears that a horse, said to be a very quiet animal, belonging to Mr. Harris, jun., was left at the boy's uncle's shop to be shod. When the shoeing was completed, the unfortunate youth jumped on the horse to ride it home; there was neither saddle nor bridle on the horse, but only a headstall. The animal took fright soon after the lad had mounted, and ran off at full speed. After going about a quarter of a mile, and on approaching the turn nearly opposite the Church of England parsonage, it is thought the poor boy lost courage, and threw himself off, falling violently on his head. He was picked up insensible, and has remained in that state up to the present. Hopes for his recovery are despaired of.

Sheep Killed by Dogs.—Some time during last night Mr. B. Richards, of Fairfield, had thirteen sheep killed, it is supposed by dogs, and two others not expected to live from injuries received. Amongst the number of sheep destroyed is a valuable ram worth £50. It is a pity that some law is not in force entailing a heavy tax of so much a head upon owners for every dog they keep. It might have the effect of lessening the number of worthless animals, with which the place is infested; for not only are they a nuisance generally speaking, but, it would seem, capable of being very destructive also.

QUEENSLAND.

From Brisbane our files are to the 26th instant.

The men engaged in digging for gold (says the Courier) near Hardcastle's hotel, between Brisbane and Oxley, are still hard at work, and very hopeful. They brought into town some excellent specimens of quartz on Saturday. Last night we saw a specimen from the reef they are working. There was gold plainly visible in it. They say it will crush six ounces to the ton, even as it is turned out now, and they regard their work as only beginning. We hope and believe they will persevere, and meet adequate reward.

A man named John Frazer, while being arrested, on Friday night last, for drunkenness, gave constable Furey a severe kick in the abdomen. Through the injury received, Furey has since been laid up under medical treatment, but he will be able to resume his duties shortly. Frazer is a digger from Gympie, and when arrested he had money and Treasury receipts on him, representing nearly £800. He is reported to be, as a rule, a sober, quiet, and harmless man.

Much inconvenience will be caused (says the Darling Downs Gazette of the 21st instant) by the delay occasioned by a general election, but it is unavoidable. Had the Government resigned, some time must have been lost, pending the election of a new Ministry, and the latter might possibly have been unable to retain office; and, in consequence, there would have been another election and another delay. As a measure for the redistribution of electorates and giving additional members to the Assembly will certainly come before the Legislature next session, the expediency of allowing the electors an opportunity of pronouncing an opinion upon so important a constitutional question is no doubt fully recognised. Neither the Ministry nor the Opposition had a sufficient number of supporters at their back to form a strong Government; either of them would have had, sooner or later, to appeal to the constituencies; and it might as well be done at once. The electors must consider that very much depends upon the choice they make of the men to represent them in next Parliament. The probability is that they will not have another opportunity of the kind for some years to come; unless a sweeping measure should be passed, dealing with a re-distribution of electorates and increase of members. If they neglect their own interests this time, they will have no one to blame except themselves. Whatever the result of a general election may be, the public have a right to demand that the result will be accepted as decisive by all parties in Parliament, and that there will be an end, for a season, of all contests between those who are in office and those who want to be in. The next session will, of course, be a short one; but as there is a great deal of business to be done, there will not be time, on any reasonable occasion, for party conflicts. We are in hopes that it will pass off quietly, and result in a fair amount of legislation that will be creditable to the Parliament, and beneficial to the general interests of Queensland.

In the forthcoming election matters, Our Paper of the 22nd says:—"The elections are troubling the people at last. Mr. Pritchard and Dr. O'Doherty will not stand for Brisbane. The first would not get in if he did; the second adheres to his professional rather than his political practice. We shall be sorry to miss him, for we liked the Doctor. It was pleasant to see his genial smile when he undertook to teach his less intelligent fellow-members. Mr. Pugh, who does not want the Chairmanship of Committees, although he asked the Government—as Mr. Pring said in the House—to support him, will of course come forward. Mr. Arthur Martin is named as another candidate, and there might be worse men in some respects. Mr. Simon Fraser is also talked about, but we believe will not stand; Mr. Pugh's supporters cannot back him. Then of the country districts, Mr. F. Cooper goes up to Warwick to solicit the votes of that "cleanest of all constituencies." Mr. Douglas, it is said, will not contest the Eastern Downs, as he is going home, and, possibly, Mr. Clarke may find a cushion there. Mr. M'Devitt contests Maryborough with Mr. Walsh—ungrateful Maryborough to listen to such solicitations. Fortitude Valley remains intact and unapproachable—certainly incorrupt. East Moreton is promised a contest. There are muttered thunders on the horizon as to the retirement of Mr. Garrick. In West Moreton, Mr. Blake, it is said, will contest the electorate—dire tribulation—with Mr. Thorne. Somebody said something about Mr. Davenport standing for the Eastern Downs. We are not going to say much about him, but whether he will get in is another matter. Other rumours are too vague for our repetition of them."

COMMERCIAL.

STOCK AND SHARE LISTS.

Barton and Melhado.—A fair amount of business has been transacted in the share market this week. Bank shares are in request, and are likely to rule higher, money for investment being in excess of the stock offered for sale. In Steam shares—a slight decline has taken place in Australasian Steam, owing to sales being forced, but as soon as the market is cleared an advance must take place, the present rate of dividend—10 per cent.—being greatly in favour of investors. The Hunter River Steam have declared a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. Insurance shares are inquired for. Sydney General and Pacific have advanced 2s 6d per share. Coal shares are firmer, but as there is likely to be a reduction in the price of coals, the market may be easier should sellers come forward. Peak Downs Copper are 2s per share higher. Government Debentures and Queensland Treasury Bills are wanted at full rates. Our sales are:—Bank of New South Wales, £45 per share; Australian Joint Stock Bank, £9 10s; Commercial Bank, £56 10s; Australasian Steam Co., £20; General Assurance Co., 30s; Peak Downs Copper Mine, 34s and 35s.—August 28.

Lennon and Cape.—A fair business has been done in our share market this week. Bank and Insurance shares are firm at quotations. Steam shares are not obtainable under last sales. Coal shares are firm. Peak Downs Copper shares have been much sought after, attributable to the large arrival of copper from the mines, and a continuation of favourable advices. Hunter River New Steam Navigation Company declared a dividend of 10 per cent. per annum. Debenture securities continue scarce. Our sales have been, in—Bank New South Wales, £45; Commercial Bank, £57; Australian Joint Stock Bank, £9 10s; City Bank, £11 15s; Sydney Insurance, £2 10s; Pacific Insurance, £2 7s 6d; Australian General Assurance, £1 10s; Waratah Coal, £7 5s; Peak Downs Copper Company, 32s, 32s 6d, 33s, 33s 6d.—August 28.

J. Mullens.—A fair amount of business has been done this week, and prices have been fully sustained. A large parcel of Bank of New South Wales shares was placed at £44 early in the week, but the market is now bare at £45. Insurance share have advanced in all stocks, as my sales will show. There has been a spurt in Peak Downs shares, which now stand buyers 32s 6d, sellers 35s. Sales have been made at the former rate. Debentures are wanted at full prices. My sales this week have been—Australian Joint Stock Bank shares, at £9 10s; Bank of New South Wales shares, at £45; Bank of New Zealand shares, at £17 10s; City Bank shares, at £11 15s; Australasian Steam shares, at £20 10s; Australian General Assurance shares, at £1 10s; Sydney Insurance shares, at £2 10s; Pacific Insurance shares, at £2 7s 6d; Wallsend Coal shares, at £7 15s; City of Sydney debentures, due 1873, at 102 and interest.—August 28.

W. Chatfield.—A good business has been done during the early part of the past week, chiefly in bank stock; latterly the market has not been so brisk. I have placed Commercials at £56 10s; Australian Joint Stock Bank at £9 10s; Bank of New Zealand, at £17 10s; also a large parcel of Bank of New South Wales at rather below the last quotations, but they are now held for £45. Steam shares are flat. Insurance stock is in demand. I notice sales of Sydney Insurance at £2 10s. Coal Mining shares are not offering; Peak Downs Copper are wanted at 32s. Government debentures are saleable at par; debentures of other companies are not offering, or inquired after.—August 28.

W. T. Muston and Co.—The share market continues active, a large amount of stock changing hands this week. Bank shares are firm. Commercials sold at £56½; New South Wales, £45; Citys, £11 15s; and Joint Stocks, £9 10s. Australasian Steam have declined 10s, selling freely at £20. Hunter Rivers, £9 10s. Insurance stock is in demand, sales showing an improvement upon last week's rates. In mining, Peak Downs have advanced to 35s, but do not offer in quantity even at that rate. The market is still bare of Government debentures.—Adv.—August 28.

Irwin and Turner.—Wool: The sales of yesterday passed off quietly, and prices ruled much the same as those of the previous week. There were few lots worthy of note. We submitted and sold 92 bales. Sheepskins: The market has manifested a downward tendency this week. We offered and sold some 20,000 at from 4½d to 5½d for full grown, 1½d to 3½d per lb. for pelts. Tallow: At the sales of this day there was a disposition to do business, but we cannot quote any advance in price, owing to the high rate of freight now ruling. The principal parcel on our catalogue comprised 134 casks—fifty tons—beef of Northern boiling, which was taken at £33 7s 6d; other lots at proportionate value. Hides: We submitted a large catalogue of this class of produce at auction this day, consisting principally of boiling parcels from the North, which realised full rates. The lots worthy of note were taken as follows:—62 at 16s, 27 at 21s 3d, 44 at 18s 9d, 31 at 16s 6d, 41 at 19s, 22 at 18s, 32 at 21s 6d, 62 at 17s 6d, 49 at 20s 6d, 117 at 21s 9d, 45 at 20s, 31 at 22s, 61 at 17s 9d, 26 at 19s 9d per hide. Leather: Our usual fortnightly sale, held this day, was well attended, and the competition throughout was brisk, all offering realising full market value. Our sales for this week resulted thus:—Wool: Greasy, IM over R, 1 bale at 5½d; handwashed, KO, 1 at 5½d; skins and black wool, 1 at 3d; scoured, 1 at 13d; handwashed, I&T, 1 at 9d; greasy, N, 1 at 6½d; mixed, ditto, 1 at 4d; greasy, PD, 2 at 6½d; lambs, AB, 1 at 3d; skin, D in triangle, 2 at 12½d; greasy, R&Co over Reedy Lake, very seedy, 47 at 4½d; lambs ditto, damaged, 4 at 4d; ditto ditto, 11 at 4d; ditto ditto, 5 at 3½d; locks, ditto, 2 at 2d; pieces, ditto, 1 at 2½d per lb. Harrison and Jones.—Stations: Since our last we have answered a good many inquiries, and good stations meet with keen attention, and can be placed at slightly improving prices, cattle runs being the most saleable at the present time, although there are buyers for good sheep properties. Fat Cattle: The numbers brought in are beginning to fall short, and we fully anticipate high prices will be realised for good fat cattle in a week or so. The quality of those to hand this week has not been such as to fairly indicate the actual value of prime cattle, although they have reached better prices for their descriptions than could have been recorded for them a fortnight since. Prime heavy bullocks will go to £10 or £11; second quality cattle will reach from £6 to £8. We sold a small draft of fair cattle at an average of £5 13s. Fat Sheep: The prices during the week have been quite equal to our last week's quotations. The numbers coming in being somewhat small, we look for a further advance. Quotations: Prime wethers, 56 lbs., 13s 6d to 14s; middling, 8s to 10s 6d. Store Cattle: In the absence of more favourable intelligence with regard to rain from the Southern districts, we are unable to hold out any encouraging prospects as yet; we hope, however, the markets will show a better demand in the course of a week or so. Prices for good mobs, delivered South, 55s to 65s; while Northern prices remain at about 35s to 45s. Store Sheep: With the exception of an occasional opportunity of placing a flock of wethers, but little can be done with store sheep, the demand being suspended almost entirely. Quotations: wethers, 5s 6d to 7s; maiden ewes, 7s to 8s; breeding ewes, 5s to 6s.—August 28.

Thomas Dawson.—Fat Cattle: Supply during the past week scarcely equal to the demand. Price obtained for prime cattle have varied from 20s to 25s per 100 lbs. Fat Sheep: No alteration since last report; it must, however, be borne in mind, that the present prices will not last long, for already I have had advices of shorn sheep on the road for market; and as these and other supplies arrive the pressure on the cattle market will lessen. My sales have been a flock of Cunningham's at 10s 3d, and a flock of Davis's at 10s 6d, both sold on the station. Store Stock: No transactions to report. Horses: Stock to hand very inferior, market consequently dull.—August 28.

G. M. Pitt.—Fat Cattle: A short supply came forward this week, chiefly of middling quality, for which there is little competition; really prime are very scarce, and command an advance on former quotations. I quote best bullocks worth from £7 to £8, second quality from £5 to £6; middling and inferior dull of sale. My sales have been: 130 (Morrice's), on the station, only middling quality at £5 10s; 47 (Cummins's), at £4; 65 (Pye's), £3 12s 8d; and 112 (Moore's), at £3 18s. Fat Sheep: No sheep are at present coming forward direct from the breeder, the market being wholly supplied by the trade; prime quality in demand, but very scarce; middling and inferior dull of sale.—August 28.

Sullivan and Tindale.—Fat Cattle: Prices remain about the same as last report. Our sales have been during the week—108, Blaxland's, £4 13s 6d; 35, Riley's, £5 3s 2d; 37, Hughes's, £5 5s 5d; 20, ditto, £7 0s 5d; 12 Bowman's, £6 8s 10d. Fat Sheep: Market remains firm at last quotations. Our sales have been—600, O'Brien's, 11s 8d; 101, Scholey's, 8s 6d; 12, Lamb's, 16s 2d.—August 28.

Brewster and Terrence.—Stations: We have little to report during the past week. Negociations for the purchase of several properties in our hands are pending. We notice that small compact runs, within easy distance of market, are those most inquired for. Store Cattle: As the spring approaches we notice a greater desire to purchase well-bred mobs of all bullocks or equal sexes, and for such, from first-class herds, we can obtain for the former 50s, and the latter 40s per head. Store Sheep: There will be no transactions of any importance until after shearing, as owing to the low prices offered for wethers (the only description inquired for) holders will not sell until they have taken off the fleece, the value of which will no doubt be as much as is in many instances offered for the sheep itself.—August 28.

Martyn and Co.—Horses: Since previous report the sales at the Bazaar have been few and unimportant. All descriptions of horses are extremely scarce, and the supply of fresh stock falls short of the demand. At the Camperdown Sale Yards we sold 35 head colts and fillies, at prices ranging up to £5 per head. Powerful colts are much wanted. Lambs: Prime fat lambs are unusually scarce, and readily bring from 11s 6d to 17s 6d each; inferior and middling qualities range from 4s to 10s 6d each. Calves: Steady demand, at previous quotations. Pigs: Porkers range from 12s 7d to £2 5s each; suckers, from 3s 6d to 7s 6d each.—August 28.

Etteshank, Eaglestone, and Co.—Fat Cattle: We have to report a short supply; in consequence of which, prices have advanced slightly, with every prospect of a continuance of present rates for some short time to come. Quotations: Prime bullocks from £7 10s to £8 10s, and cows from £6 10s to £7 5s; best beef may be quoted at 25s per 100 lbs. Fat Sheep: A bare supply forwarded, especially of good quality; a very large proportion of the supplies now coming to hand being indifferent. Sales were brisk throughout, and prices fully up to last week's quotations. Good to prime wethers worth 2½d to 3d per lb. Store Cattle: The demand continues for good lots, while inferior are almost unsaleable. Quotations: Southward—mixed sexes over 2 years old 40s to 60s, all bullocks 60s to 70s; northward—mixed lots over 2 years old, 35s to 45s. Store Sheep: Very few inquiries; and as shearing operations have commenced, no activity need be expected for a month or two. Quotations nominal. Our Melbourne telegram, 27th August:—Best beef, 27s 6d per 100 lbs; best wethers, 57 lbs., 12s to 13s.—August 27.

Burt and Co.—Fat Cattle: 350 head formed the week's supply, and although chiefly paddock-fed, very few prime pens offered. A good draft of cattle would sell well. We sold a small lot of 50 head as high as £11 2s for one pen. We quote prime quality beef worth 25s per 100 lbs. Fat Calves: None to be had. Fat Sheep: Only 3000 came forward for the week's supply, and not a prime lot in all. It is difficult to say what a really good lot would realise; certainly not under 14s. We have no sale to report this week. Fat Lambs: Worth from 12s to 16s. Store Sheep: No movement at present. Store Cattle: We have numerous inquiries for bullocks for fattening purposes. Horses: Sales are very dull, and likely to be until the spring has fairly set in. Hides: Best heavy town hides are worth from 19s to 21s; second ditto, 16s. Tallow: We quote beef, £30 to £32; mixed, £32 to £33; and mutton, £33 to £35. The advices from England report quotations a shade lower.—August 28.

SYDNEY LABOUR MARKET.

William Brown.—There is considerable demand for men for the country districts, especially for those accustomed to mechanical and agricultural work; for other classes of men-servants the enquiry is moderate. Applicants for situations in and near the city are in excess of present requirement, but farming men are readily engaged at the current rates of wages. Female servants are sufficiently numerous for the execution of town and country orders. Rates of wages are without alteration.—August 28.

The quantity of gold imported into the Sydney Branch of the Royal Mint for the purpose of coinage, during the week ending 28th August, 1868, was 9743 ounces.

The amount of coin issued during the same period, 32,000 sovereigns.

THE CITY OF SYDNEY SUGAR COMPANY.

A meeting was held at the School of Arts, Kempsey, Macleay River, on Thursday, 20th instant, convened by advertisement by the manager, who at present is on a tour in the district, in order to lay before the landholders and farmers generally the purposes of his company, as well as their future intentions. Mr. J. Florence M'Carthy occupied the chair. Mr. Hayes prefaced his remarks by reading letters of introduction he carried to Mrs. Chapman, Frederickton, as well as giving the gentlemen present a detailed statement of the cost of growing sugar, founded after mature calculation, and on the best authority.

For the benefit of intending sugar planters here it is:—

Dr.
To cost of ploughing one acre	£1 5 0
700 plants at 20s per 1000	0 11 0
Labour planting	1 1 0
Labour and attention per annum	12 0 0
Depreciation in land (if any), and interest on purchase money	2 10 0
	£17 10 0
Cr.
By yield of 50 tons cane, or 3 tons 3 qrs., at £30 per ton	£112 10 0
	£95 0 0
Dr.
Less 10s. per ton cost of crushing	25 0 0
Net profit	£70 0 0

Sixty tons of cane to the acre is constantly obtained in the Manning and Macleay districts, and you will observe Mr. Hayes's calculation is on a fair average of 50 tons per acre.

This company has already purchased 30 acres of land at Eureka, seven miles above Frederickton, and Mr. Hayes is now in treaty for sites at Kempsey, Frederickton, Dark Water, as well as on the Nambuccra and Bellinger rivers.

Mr. Hayes gave a very lengthy outline of the future intentions of the company, and the gentlemen present, numbering over thirty from all parts of the district, carried a unanimous and cordial vote of approval of its policy, and promised both Mr. Hayes and the company their entire support.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting.

Burnt Yards Quartz Reef.—The prospectors at the above reef (says the Bathurst Times) have completed the erection of their crushing machine, which would be set to work either on Monday or yesterday. There are sixty tons of stone ready for the machine, and the prospectors are very sanguine of success. There is an enormous body of quartz in the reef, and the lower they go, the more apparent becomes the gold in the stone, so that there is every likelihood of rich returns.

A steady business has been done in the Stock and Share market during the past week, buyers being more numerous than sellers, and last week's prices fully sustained. In bank shares we note sales of Commercial at 56½ and 57; Joint Stock and New South Wales firm at last quotations. New Zealands have recovered from the recent depression, and brought 17½. Citys, 11¾. Transactions in steam shares have been confined to A. S. N. at from 20 to 20½. There has been considerable demand for insurance shares, at improved figures. General have advanced to par, Sydney to 2½, and Pacific to £2 8s.; sales at these rates. Uniteds were inquired for, but holders look for higher prices, and no sales were made. Coal shares are in request, with but few sellers; both Wallsend and Waratah are higher, and were placed at 7¾ and 7½ respectively. Peak Downs Copper have taken another start and touched 35s., closing firm at 34s. 6d. to 35s. Debentures continue scarce and wanted. A parcel of City of Sydney, due 1873, were sold at 2 per cent. premium.

As the boiling-down season is now drawing to a close, the tallow market exhibits increased firmness. At public sales this morning there was a great demand for shipping parcels at a slight advance on last week's prices, and a very large quantity changed hands. Mutton brought £33 15s. to £35 5s.; prime beef, £34 2s. 6d.; good boiling, £32 10s. to £33 10s.; medium, £31 10s. to £32 5s. Hides were also very active, and for extra weights extreme prices were paid, ranging from 16s. to 22s.; first heavy, 13s. 3d. to 15s. 9d.; inferior and light, from 9s. to 12s. 9d.; horse hides, 4s. to 6s. 6d.; kangaroo skins, 12s. 9d.; calfskins, 2s. to 4s.; neatsfoot oil, 5s. 10d.; horns, 10s.; shank bones, £5 to £11; harness leather, 10½d.; kip, 18d. to 19½d.; inferior sole, 7½d.; bridle, 11s. 3d.; hair, 13d. At Messrs. Bradley, Newton, and Lamb's sale of timber, held this afternoon, a shipment of Wide Bay sawn pine was disposed of, at 12s. 9d. to 26s. 6d., according to scantling; 5-feet Hobart Town palings at 11s., and 6-feet at 13s.

Messrs. Stubbs and Co. held a sale of sugars this morning, which was very fully attended, and a good disposition to purchase was shown by the trade. Some small parcels of Mauritius white crystals were quitted at £40 12s. 6d. to £41 15s. Low ration, ex Courier des Mers, from Bourbon, brought £23 10s. to £26, £26 10s. to £28 5s.; low counters, £31 5s. to £32 15s.; yellows, £33 to £34 10s.; yellow crystals, £34 15s. In the import market sales are chiefly restricted to trade lots of limited amount. During the last two days there has been more inquiry for articles of general consumption. Breadstuffs are very quiet, but, with few exceptions, holders evince no disposition to force sales, and, for bakers' lots, prices have not undergone much change. Adelaide brands are quoted at £17 to £18 10s.; town mills, £17 to £18. Wheat is in request, and we understand that a portion of the recently arrived Californian has changed hand on private terms. Maize has a declining tendency, good samples were obtainable to-day at 2s. 6d. The demand for liquors has been light. Martell's brandy was placed at 7s. 9d. to 8s. Hennessy's case, at 28s. 6d. Rum is firmer; sales of 30 o.p. were made at 4s. 3d. to 4s. 4½d.; for parcels on the spot 4s. 6d. is asked. There is very little doing in bulk ale; the prices asked by holders here have induced some of the trade to order supplies from Melbourne, and a large parcel is stated to have been shipped thence for this port during the present week. Bulk stout is very firm, demand limited; bottled dull. A large shipment of kerosene, just to hand, has found a buyer in one line, at 1s. 11d., and 2s. 1d. is now asked for parcels. Our usual market review for the Panama mail will be published on Wednesday morning.

Brisbane advices are to the 26th instant. The Courier of the previous day reports—

This forenoon an auction sale of Tasmanian flour, ex Seabird, was held at Messrs. G. Raff and Co.'s stores, by Mr. H. M. Cockburn. The sale was well attended, and the entire quantity offered, about 27 tons, was sold at prices ranging from £16 to £18 per ton. The flour was all more or less damaged by sea water. In the produce market there has been rather more activity during the last two or three days. About one-half of the cargo of potatoes, per Urania, has been placed at £7 per ton, in quantity. The bulk of the Richmond River maize, by the Jane Lockhart, has been disposed of at 2s 9d per bushel. A shipment of hay, comprising 23 tons of Adelaide oaten, ex Contest, has been sold in two lots at £8 10s per ton. The sale of half a ton of blasting powder is reported at 14d per lb., delivered at Maryborough.

Our Melbourne files are to the 26th instant. The Argus of that date reports:—

The aspect of the import markets gives no promise of an early improvement, and business to-day has been in a measure quite prostrate. In breadstuffs, we note trade sales of flour at £18. There are buyers of quantities willing to operate at £17; but holders, notwithstanding the importations reported, and the character of late advices—taking a more sanguine view of the future prospects of the market—refuse to sell under £17 10s in most instances, and we hear of none offering at the lower figure named. Wheat is firmly held at this morning's quotations of 7s 9d to 8s. Maize is decidedly lower, being offered freely at 3s 9d in parcels, and we hear of a trifle under that figure having been accepted for a line of 500 bags. For trade lots up to 3s 10d is realised. Under the hammer, some 1480 bags Java rice, ex Crown, were quitted at £22 12s 6d. Candles are more inquired for, though the price offered, within a shade of 10½d for best brands, in the meantime check sales. By auction some 700 boxes were quitted at 10d to 10½d according to brand. Teas are moved off quietly in fair parcels. By public sale some 440 chests and boxes found buyers at from 1s 5½d to 1s 9½d, in bond. Trade sales of pig-iron, in ten ton parcels, are made at £5 5s. The shipment lately arrived has not yet been sold. In timber, we have to report a firm market; 10,000 deals, a portion of the Goschen's cargo, were offered by auction, but withdrawn for 5d. Some 4000 battens were disposed of privately at 4½d. Brandies were dull, and neglected. On the price of Hennessy's, in bulk, we do not make any change as yet, 6s being still asked. Holders of some of the other first-class brands have, however, judiciously met the market; Champagne Vineyard and Vinegrowers', hitherto quoted at 7s 6d, has been sold at 7s.

Our files from Launceston are to the 22nd instant. The Examiner of that date has the following:—

During the past week the breadstuffs markets have been characterised by inactivity. There has been a change in oats, bran, and potatoes during the last few days; the two first-named articles having improved in value, while the latter are quoted a shade lower. Other prices remain as given in our last. Current rates may be given as under:—Flour, £16: wheat is nominally worth 6s 6d; oats 3s to 3s 3d, according to sample; bran, 1s 3d; potatoes, £3, without bags; hay, £3 10s; Tasmanian oatmeal, £22 to £24; potted butter, 6d; fresh butter (retail), 1s; prime bacon, 10d to 1s; fowls, 4s to 4s 6d per pair; ducks, 4s 6d to 5s 6d per pair; geese, 4s 6d to 5s each; colonial cheese, 1s; English ditto, 1s 6d to 1s 8d; eggs, 1s to 1s 2d per dozen.

Theodore's Family.—The doomed King had but a short time to arrange the affairs of his family. His domestic life had not been happy of late years, and its course may be described in a few words. When Theodore was a young chief, with his power and influence increasing year by year, he received the hand of the fair Tzoubedje, the daughter of Ras Ali. This was a marriage of love, and many of the good qualities attributed to the rising chief in Mr. Plowden's account—his mercy, his abstemiousness, his chastity,—were due to the influence of his beloved wife. But they had no children, and she died. The loss to him was irremediable. He was free to contract a political alliance, and when he defeated Oubie, the great chief of Tigré, he married his daughter, the proud Toronech, by whom he had an only child, named Alumayahu, a boy now about seven years of age. But the marriage proved most unhappy. She was prouder even than the fiery Theodorus, despising him as an upstart. It was impossible for two such firebrands to live together, and for some years she had resided apart from him with her little boy, in the King's house at Magdala. Since their separation Theodore had lived a disgracefully irregular life at Debra Tabor; and his favourite concubine, a fat Yedju Galla woman, named Itamanyu, had been living for some time with the Queen at Magdala, and receiving almost daily letters from her absent lord. The time for oblivion had now arrived. It is certain that Theodorus and his wife Toronech passed some time together on that fatal Saturday afternoon. It is to be hoped that they were reconciled; and as we shall see presently, he expressed a last wish which she afterwards repeated. Theodorus had several illegitimate children, among whom was a son, named Mashesha, now about twenty years of age, who was with him on Salamgi.—Macmillan's Magazine for July.

A Welsh Patriarch.—The Edinburgh Daily Review has a notice of a Welsh Independent teacher, Mr. David Williams, of the county of Brecon. He has been, come next summer, 64 years teacher of the same congregation. His predecessor was their teacher for 50 years, and his predecessor was their teacher for 60 years; so that the meeting-house still under his care has had only three pastors during the long space of 174 years; and, what is still more remarkable, the peace of these congregations has never once been disturbed by a single jar or discord during all these long years. Peace has always prevailed among the various members. It was only at the beginning of last January (1867) that he lost his wife, after a happy union of 61 years, and that was the first time a coffin crossed his threshold during his unusually long married life, all his children, seven in number, being still alive. He preaches now generally three times every Sunday, and several times during the week. Although in his 89th year, he is completely weather-proof. Rain, snow, tempest, and storm he makes no account of, and even now he would think nothing of riding 40 miles over a rough country, and conducting a service in the evening.

Birth of a Seal.—On the 9th of June one of the seals (Phoca vitulina) at the Zoological-gardens gave birth to a young one, which was at first covered with an abundance of fine silky hair; this, as the animal wriggled about on the ground, was entirely shed, and formed a dense blanket or rug, on which it lay. In less than three hours the young phoca took to the water, and swam about actively, endeavouring to suck as the mother turned on the side. Unfortunately, however, there was no supply of milk, and the mother has since died in convulsions, since which time the young one has been fed by Mr. Bartlett on milk and a small portion of cod liver oil, administered by means of a feeding-bottle. The young seal at birth was 32 inches long, and weighed 20 lb.—The Field.

DRAMATIC PERFORMANCES WITHOUT A LICENSE.—The police have entered a very proper crusade against establishments that are in the habit of selling tickets that represent such drink, and entitle the holder to admittance to a room where, among other things, dramatic performances are provided. A case of this kind was, yesterday, decided in the Central Police Court, and a publican residing in [illegible]-street was fined £5 for playing a piece entitled the "Limerick Boy."

PROTESTANT POLITICAL ASSOCIATION.—The usual weekly meeting of the members of this association was held last evening, in the Bathurst-street schoolroom. The room was crowded. The chair was occupied by the president of the association, Mr. John Davies. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The secretary then read the report of the council. This report stated that a letter had been received from the branch at Maitland, stating that the branch was progressing favourably; the Newtown branch was also prospering. The council also recommended that, in accordance with an application, a branch of the association be formed at Waterloo, in connection with the Paddington electorate, and that another branch be formed in the same electorate whenever it was found desirable. The chairman, in drawing attention to Mr. Parkes' speech to his constituents at Kiama, remarked that that hon. gentleman had given some startling information, which had struck terror through the colony; but he did not doubt but that the information was correct; coming from such a source it could not be doubted. A meeting had been called for Monday evening next to take into consideration the statements made by Mr. Parkes. The advertisements convening the meeting had no signature, and he was glad to see that the Herald had refused to insert an anonymous advertisement of such character. He could not see what good could be gained by public meetings at present. The proper time for the Colonial Secretary to make a fuller explanation would be when Parliament met; and the explanation ought to be made only in Parliament. If, after Parliament had been called together, it was then found that Mr. Parkes withheld the necessary explanation, he believed the Protestant Political Association would be the first to step forward and demand the fullest information respecting the statements made by that hon. gentleman. But until Mr. Parkes has had an opportunity of making his explanation in Parliament it was the duty of the members of that association, and the duty of every citizen, to abstain from any demonstration whatever, and to prevent, as far as they could by their influence, any steps being taken to cast any stigma upon their worthy Colonial Secretary. Mr. Goold deprecated in strong terms any attempt which might be made to extort from Mr. Parkes any explanation respecting matters alluded to by him in his speech to his constituents, until Mr. Parkes had had an opportunity of making full disclosures before Parliament; and he concluded by moving the following motion:—"That, after the disclosure made by the Colonial Secretary in his address to his constituents at Kiama, on Monday evening last, namely, 'That the Government were in possession of evidence to prove that prior to the Duke of Edinburgh's arrival in this colony, a conspiracy existed to take his life, and that one of the persons so engaged, being suspected, was foully murdered by his brother conspirators,'—such an alarming disclosure made by a Minister of the Crown upon a matter so affecting the highest interests of the colony—this meeting is of opinion that this association should memorialise the Government, that so soon as Parliament assembles all the evidence which Government are in possession of, having reference to the conspiracy, be laid upon the table of the House for general information. And further that this association will discountenance any attempt on the part of others to embarrass the Government by the discussion of this important matter at public meetings before the meeting of Parliament, to which we believe the disclosure should be made in the first instance." The motion was seconded by Mr. Hargreaves, supported by Messrs. J. Davies, sen., and Carruthers, and carried unanimously. A committee was appointed to take steps for obtaining a larger and more suitable room for the meetings of the association. Mr. Craig, of Bathurst, addressed the meeting in support of the principles of the association. The chairman announced that a gentleman connected with the association would proceed to Bathurst with Mr. Craig, for the purpose of forming a branch society there. A resolution was passed, authorising the formation of a branch of the association at Redfern. Mr. Thomas, of Kingsgrove, Canterbury, read a letter which had been sent to him in December last, which contained statements respecting certain events which would take place in this colony during the visit of his Royal Highness Prince Alfred. The letter, he said, had been placed in the hands of the Government. The chairman, before closing the meeting, again drew attention to the fact that a meeting was called for Monday night, at the Masonic Hall, by anonymous advertisement and placards, and he urged upon the members of the association the necessity of their being present. The number of members initiated last evening was one hundred and ten. The meeting closed with three cheers for the Queen, three for the Governor, and three for Mr. Parkes.

MAJOR'S CREEK.—A correspondent of the Braidwood Despatch writes, on August 25th:—The Eldorado of so many adventures in by gone years, the busy scene of animation, and source of so much prosperity during the earlier years of Australia's Auriferous Era, has seemingly declined into a very advanced state of atrophy (having read so much of medical nomenclature in some of your late issues, I feel as if I myself am declining into an Araluen state of medical knowledge) for want of that pluvial sustenance, without which no yellow source of prosperity can be obtained. Yes there is no doubt of it, Major's Creek needs floods, and as often as they occur, so do its intermittent seasons of prosperity. The worst of this is, that our neighbours occupying a lower sphere suffer so much by the same visitations. A flood in Araluen is no doubt a great calamity, and although it is true that very many of the flooded-out miners there can find enough and to spare upon the old creek during such visitation, yet the great loss to the district is irretrievable. The true remedy for the present state of things here, and one which for years I have advocated, is to bring a large race from the Shoalhaven. I believe this would be a source of permanent wealth to the creek, and would very shortly after completion pay all the outlay. The men of money in the district, however—the men who have made all, and much more than all in some cases by the gold-fields of Braidwood—will not open their pockets to develop one of our hidden wealth, and unless they give a helping hand in the matter what are we to do? But although Major's Creek is poor, and not advancing in material wealth, yet decided progress may be recorded in other matters.

OMEGA STREET PUBLIC SCHOOL.—On his way from Gerringong to Kiama, on Monday (says the Independent), the hon. the Colonial Secretary accompanied by Mr. R. Miller, called at the above school. About eighty children were present, who, after creditably acquitting themselves in the exercises of parsing, spelling, &c., were questioned by the teacher, Mr. G. H. Hunt (at Mr. Parkes's request), on the geography of Australia in general, and New South Wales in particular. The answers of the children were prompt and accurate. Owing to an engagement in Kiama, the hon. gentleman's visit was necessarily brief: but from the little he saw and heard, and the inspector's reports, he has expressed himself pleased with the general efficiency of the school.

KILLED BY A METEOR.—The Brisbane Courier of the 25th instant states that several of the vessels just arrived from the southward report that there was a great deal of electrical atmospheric disturbance on Monday and Tuesday nights, but whether it was the effect, or was simply coincident with the eclipse, our informants could not say. In one case it was attended with fatal results, and a man was killed on board the schooner Urania by the explosion of an electric meteor. The vessel was off Crowdy Head on Monday, August 17, about midnight, when a heavy south-westerly squall came on, and all hands were called to shorten sail; a seaman named H. G. Sales was steering, and at 12.30 a.m. on Tuesday, the 18th, a meteor, like a ball of fire, fell immediately over the vessel's stern, and exploded with a loud report resembling that of a heavy piece of ordnance. Sparks of fire were scattered all about the deck, and the steersman was killed by the shock. Every one on board felt a violent shock like that of a galvanic battery, but none of the crew were injured except Sales, who was at his last gasp picked up. His body showed no marks, but appeared to be blackened, and some six or seven hours after decomposition set in, and the poor fellow was buried over the side. He was a young man, about three-and-twenty, and a smart seaman. The fire-ball apparently travelled with the wind, which was from the south-west, and when it burst the flash was so intensely brilliant that the steward, who was lying in his berth below, declared that he saw the fire through the seams of the deck. The cabin at the same moment was filled with smoke, which blackened papers lying about. Captain Johnstone informs us that the discoloration of the paint was like that produced by "smoking the ship" with charcoal. A peculiar and indescribable smell was perceived for some time after the explosion, and a quantity of flakes like the soot from a steamer's funnel were scattered about. Captain Milman, of the Lady Young (s.), informs us that on his last trip to Sydney a fire-ball was observed passing ahead of his ship, about 1 a.m. on Monday, the 17th. It travelled in a horizontal direction from north-west to south-east. Apparently it was so near the ship that the officer of the watch altered her course to avoid it, when it burst, and for the moment the whole heavens seemed to be in a blaze of light; and at the same time there was terrific thunder. Lightning and thunder continued at intervals throughout the night and next day (Tuesday), until about half-past 8 o'clock, when the weather cleared up.

DEODORISERS AND DISINFECTANTS.—On Saturday, Mr. Girdlestone, city health officer, accompanied by Mr. Hood, chemist, Elizabeth-street, proceeded to the Flemington Abattoirs (says the Argus) for the purpose of ascertaining the result of an experiment respecting the efficacy of certain chemicals used as disinfectants and deodorisers. Dr. Morton was also in attendance. The four vessels, containing nightsoil, which had been operated upon last Wednesday, were re-examined. No. 1 vessel (containing two tablespoonfuls of chloride of lime), and No. 3 (containing two tablespoonfuls of Sir William Burnett's disinfecting fluid), were found to be in an active state of putrid fermentation; No. 4 (containing one tablespoonful of oxide of manganese) was foul, but in a lesser degree than either No. 1 or No. 3; and No. 2 (containing two tablespoonfuls of carbolic acid) was tainted, but was pronounced the least offensive of the four. In order to test the accuracy of the decision, some carpenters, who were engaged at work on the premises at the time, were called in, and requested to examine the contents of the vessels. The result of their investigation was a concurrence in the opinions already expressed. It was then agreed to add a greater quantity of the chemicals to their respective vessels, and allow them to remain undisturbed for a week.

West, Council of Education; to Colonial Secretary's Office and Council of Education. CLERICAL IMMORALITY.—The Argus of Monday contains the following:—An unpleasant rumour is in general circulation respecting the minister of a Congregational Church in the eastern part of the city. It is stated that a young girl belonging to his congregation was recently married, and sometime afterwards made an avowal to her husband, which, after inquiries on his part, resulted in a charge made by her against the minister of her church, who had himself performed the marriage ceremony. The husband, in high indignation, sent back his wife to her father, who, learning the facts of the case, threatened to take vengeance on the reverend gentleman who had thus wronged his family. These threats coming to the ear of the minister, he applied for protection to the police authorities, who gave directions to the constables in that neighbourhood to look after his dwelling. These precautions, however, did not prevent a scene with the father, who came to seek the minister at his house, but found him away from home. It is further stated that the pastor is on the point of leaving the colony.

THE PRINCE OF WALES OPERA HOUSE.—There has been a slight increase of patronage during the past week; but, on the whole, the efforts of the lessee to produce expensively got up plays has not been satisfactory in a financial point of view. The drama of "The Jewess" has been the principal feature of the entertainments, and, both in point of acting and mounting, was very creditably produced. Miss Cooper gave a very effective representation of the Hebrew maiden, and the character of the father could hardly have found a more able exponent than Mr. Stuart O'Brien proved to be; Messrs. Ireland, Burford, and Holloway also fulfilled their respective parts with credit. Last night there was a very good house on the occasion of Mrs. George Case's benefit. The programme was varied and attractive, and every portion of the entertainment gave general satisfaction. A noticeable feature was the thoroughly artistic manner in which Mrs. Case played Julia in a scene from the "Hunchback." Mr. Hoskins, as Mr. Wyndham, in "A Handsome Husband," was also successful in winning the plaudits of the audience, and Mr. Case added to the enjoyment of the audience by a cleverly executed fantasia on Scotch airs (concertina), which elicited an encore. To-night Mr. Gourlay, who is accredited by the London press as the best Scotch comedian on the English stage, commences an engagement of six nights, and will open with Baillie Nicol Jarvie in "Rob Roy." Those who have witnessed the clever entertainment which Mr. Gourlay and his family have been giving here can form a fair estimate of his ability.

TRIBUNAL ORDINANCE.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—Although I acknowledge myself unfit to compete in bandying such polite personalities as "ignorance, sophistry, and arrogance," or the like, I must beg once more to trespass upon your space in answer to "F. H. Wilson's" second letter contained in this day's issue.

When children or inexperienced persons persist in playing with sharp tools, they are almost certain either to cut themselves or to spoil the points and edges; sometimes they may do both.

Bishop Colenso's case is possibly as well known to me as to Mr. Wilson, and he is probably aware that the very extracts which he has made, were read out to the whole Synod, and most ably commented upon by a legal gentleman of the highest universally acknowledged ability, who was opposed to the Ordinance. He was answered then, and shown to the satisfaction of the very large majority who voted for the ordinance, that that case did not at all apply to the case in question. Why did not Mr. Wilson then stand up and fulminate his legal thunder in the Synod, where, if successful, it might have prevented the passing of the ordinance, instead of allowing it to appear long after the matter was concluded in the columns of a public newspaper, where, though it might do mischief, it could effect no other good than to Herald forth the name and legal lore of the writer?

I did not desire nor intend to discuss the general merits of the question. I merely wrote to show the incorrectness of an assertion which, if unchallenged, might have disturbed some persons. Mr. Wilson originally stated that the Act 16 Charles I., chap. 11, is still the law of the land. I say it is not so, nor is more than a small part of it in force in England; and in support of my assertion I cite the words of the repealing statute, 13 Charles II., c. 12, s. 2. Those who prefer Mr. Wilson's opinion to the words of the statute are at liberty to do so. I attributed that statement of Mr. Wilson's to want of acquaintance with the repealing statute, certain that, had he known it, he would not have made a statement inconsistent with the fact. In his answer Mr. Wilson says the Privy Council has decided—1st, that the 5th section of the Act is unrepealed by 13 Charles II, c. 12. Whoever said it was otherwise? I stated, in almost the words of the Act itself, the repeal of all the Act Mr. Wilson says is still the law of the land, "except as far as concerneth the High Commission Court" (which is not the tribunal in question), "or the erection of some such like court by Royal Commission," which commission the tribunal is not erected by. Is it then consistent with ordinary intelligence to ask us to believe in penalties under an Act repealed as to all but two matters, of which the tribunal is acknowledgedly not one?

But Mr. Wilson adds—"2nd, that this unrepealed section does not apply to the colonies." Surely Mr. Wilson is playing with the blade instead of the handle, and is cutting himself! As to the third matter alleged to be decided contrary to my assertion, I simply deny that any such assertion will be found in my letter (however fully I am persuaded of the fact), as that the tribunal constituted was legally constituted. That is a matter as to which I am quite satisfied with the decision arrived at by the Synod, and respectfully decline to enter upon a newspaper controversy, especially with one who has so much the advantage of me in the use of such pretty personalities as I have alluded to.

One word for "Omicron," who writes in the same paper. Mr. Wilson is not a lawyer, I believe, by profession. His name does not appear in the authorised "Law Almanac," else I should not have spoken of edged tools. All who were intended to have a voice in matters of doctrine are members of the same profession, to wit, the Christian profession, and of the same branch, the Church of England.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
OMEGA.

POSTAL COMMUNICATION WITH ROCKHAMPTON.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—Perhaps you can inform me whether it is absolutely necessary that all letters posted here for any part of Queensland must necessarily pass through Brisbane and receive that postmark? I am led to suspect such is the case from a paragraph in your journal of 27th August, extracted from the Rockhampton Bulletin, in reference to communication with Melbourne; and also from the serious and unnecessary delays I have experienced in my communications with Rockhampton by direct steamers. To think that a letter posted here for Rockhampton, marked with name of direct steamer, so as to insure speed, goes there in (say) four days (ordinary passage), perhaps has to wait (say) three days there, sent thence to Brisbane in three days for postmark, three days' more delay at General Post Office, Queensland, back to Rockhampton in three days (its destination)—in all sixteen days—before the recipient gets the communication that reached his post-town in four days. If this is not a piece of circumlocution unworthy of any Government I do not know what is. If such is the course of postal communication with the north and sister colony—it is high time Mr. T. Murray Prior's postal arrangements were revised and corrected to meet the interests and convenience of the public. This matter largely involves the commercial interests, and if correct, none of the steamers trading direct to the following ports—Maryborough, Port Curtis, Rockhampton, Bowen, or Cleveland Bay, should be allowed to carry any mails; and due notice should be given of the same at the General Post Office here, so as to protect the public against Mr. Prior's burlesque upon postal communication. My letters have been subject to some such egregious folly or culpable neglect. Having been engaged in most important communications via Rockhampton, my letters have been on an average twenty-one days in transit, a distance that can be easily travelled in a week.

As our postal arrangements embrace so much political, social, commercial, and kindred intercourse, it behoves them to be founded upon the most practical arrangements, and carried out with the strictest exactitude and care for
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

A NEW STYPTIC.—The Melbourne Argus of Monday has a notice in reference to the peculiar properties of a styptic, alleged to have been brought from Delhi by Mr. John Bryan (known in Victoria as a theatrical agent, who some time since left Melbourne as the manager of an "entertainment" which was successfully introduced to India) which were exhibited to a select circle on Saturday afternoon last, in a room adjoining the Duke of Edinburgh Theatre. The experiments were performed upon three fowls, the operator being Mr. Tipper, the proprietor of the hotel connected with the aforementioned theatre. The plan adopted was to bare the neck of the fowl operated upon, open the skin with a lancet, cut across what was supposed to be the jugular vein, and directly the blood spouted to pour the fluid styptic upon the wound. The fluid is named "Low Bhund k Thale," a Hindoo colloquialism expressive of its effects. These last were marvellous to the unprofessional observers. The flow of blood ceased upon the instant, and then the skin was sewn up, and the fowl let loose. The first fowl to whom this treatment was applied appeared to recover immediately, the effusion of blood having been slight, and in a few seconds afterwards it commenced to pick up grain as though nothing had happened. In the case of the two others the fowls bled profusely, and though the styptic operated immediately it was applied, the birds lay afterwards apparently without life or motion. The room was then locked and the key given to a gentleman of the Press, who visited the place some hours afterwards. On his return he found one of the insensible birds quietly at roost on a chair in a corner of the room, and the other standing on the floor apparently recovered. We are bound to add, that though the experiments seemed unnecessarily cruel—more so than they would have been if a surgeon had operated—the fowls appeared to suffer little pain, and scarcely made any noise. There was not, indeed, a medical man in the room, so that the qualities of the specific were exhibited to none who were able to speak of them with any authority. It was a remarkable circumstance that the blood which fell from the necks of the birds and was touched by the fluid, immediately coagulated into large flakes, like diminutive pieces of liver. Mr. Bryan stated that the materials of his compound were simply derived from salad oil and a plant gathered in the gardens of the University.

PRIVATE EXECUTIONS.—The new Act for carrying out capital punishment inside the walls of the prison is now in operation in England. The following passage contains the gist of the Act:—"Judgment of death, to be executed on any prisoner sentenced after the passing of this Act on any indictment or inquisition for murder, shall be carried into effect within the walls of the prison in which the offender is confined at the time of execution. The sheriff is to be present with the officials. The surgeon of the gaol is to certify the death, and the sheriff to sign a declaration. A coroner's inquest is to be held; the Secretary of State may make rules; the certificate and declaration are to be exhibited outside the principal entrance of the prison at least twenty-four hours."

NEW PRINTING MACHINE.—Trial is being made of a new printing machine at the Times office, which is expected to transcend anything yet extant. The paper is made in an immense length, and delivered out from a roller. The machine is intended to print 46,000 sheets, or 23,000 perfect copies, per hour, which is a greater number than has ever yet been accomplished; and it also cuts the paper into sheets, folds them, and records the number printed.

A DISCARDED WOMAN'S REVENGE.—A lady very young and beautiful stands charged in Paris (says the Court Journal) with an odious crime, the commission of which appears to have been prompted by jealousy. Some 15 days ago a most elegantly-dressed lady arrived in one of the alleys of the Tuileries gardens sacred to nurses and their charges. She selected an infant, extremely handsome, aged 11 months, and with the nurse's permission was allowed to embrace it, giving it some bonbons on leaving. For ten days this visiting and kissing continued, and on the last occasion the mysterious lady gave the baby a little biscuit, that it nibbled with pleasure, half of which the nurse, according to custom, ate. The baby commenced to cry, was brought home, and died soon after in great convulsions—the nurse similarly was seized, and died three days later in terrible agony, denouncing the "lady," who has been arrested, and proves to have been formerly the mistress of the child's father. Dramatic revelations are expected.

DINNER! DINNER!!
(Auld Lang Syne.)
Should not substantial dinner hot
Be daily borne in mind?
And should acquaintance be forgot
Where happily we dine?
Then come to me, my hungry friends,
Your vacant stomachs line;
With wholesome fare my table bends,
And why should you repine?
How silly they who gang astray,
To view each café fine;
They dearly pay for mere display,
And gladly turn to mine.
Your humble host makes no vain boast,
But studies well the times;
So BONNETT bends to please his friends,
And in his circle shines.
York-street, near King-street. 1 o'clock daily.

LAW, SOMNER, and CO., 258 and 260, Pitt-street.

SORGHUM TARTARICUM.—"A new cereal (sorghum tartaricum) was introduced in September last. Some seeds were sown in October, and these produced plants which are now more than eight feet high, many of the stalks bearing heads of seed fully one pound in weight. We believe this plant was introduced into England by Messrs. Carter and Co., well-known seedsmen there, and by them very highly recommended as likely to produce flour quite equal to that manufactured from wheat; should this prove to be the case, this plant will be almost invaluable here, as it can be grown in localities quite unsuited to wheat, and will withstand severe droughts. The seed is about the size of the common sorghum, but of a pure white colour. There only being a very limited supply in the colony as yet, it is not possible to test its qualities this year; but we trust that it may be grown in sufficient quantities next season to enable this to be done. We understand Messrs. Law, Somner, and Co., of Pitt-street, have a supply of fresh seed grown from that imported last year, and distributed by them."—SYDNEY MORNING HERALD, March 9th, 1868.

Foreign and native talent of the highest order are combined, directed with energy and untiring zeal, to accomplish this object, and render VICTORIA HOUSE celebrated for an exclusive and beautiful style of goods that cannot be purchased elsewhere.

Terms: One-third Cash. Balance by Pro. Notes at 6, 12, and 18 Months. Bank discount added at 8 per cent.

IRWIN and TURNER have received instructions from Messrs. Rosseter and Knapp to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, Bell's-chambers, 171, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, 16th September, at 11 o'clock,
That desirable sheep and cattle station known as
REEDY CREEK, OR GUNEE.
THIS SPLENDID RUN is watered by Reedy Creek, which intersects it for ten miles, thereby securing a permanent and abundant supply of water. The country is beautiful open ridges, lightly timbered, and covered with the richest pasture.
It was originally a cattle station, but, under the supervision of the present owners, has, within the last three years, been converted into a sheep as well as a cattle station, all the original cattle having been drafted away, and their place supplied by stock carefully selected from the best herds in the colony; so that those now offered with the station are almost pure Herefords, the progeny of IMPORTED BULLS AND COWS.
The improvements carried out in the meantime have cost over £4000. They are consequently nearly new, very complete, and first-class in every respect, consisting of a commodious cottage, with detached kitchen and out-offices; a superior woolshed, fitted up with all the latest improvements, including powerful press, pens, drafting yards, &c.; several huts, paddocks, large stockyard capable of working 2000 head of cattle, shepherd's huts, sheepyards, and everything required for working the establishment to advantage.
No expense has been spared to keep up and improve the stamina of the sheep by the introduction of IMPORTED RAMS, and attention to the proper selection of the breeding sheep generally, which have been chiefly obtained from Mr. Cheeseborough's flocks.
The cattle are very superior, having been carefully bred from valuable stock derived from the celebrated herds of Messrs. Wyndham, Reynolds, and J. Nowlan. They are very quiet, easily worked, and will bear comparison with any in the colony.
THE STOCK comprises—
The herd of 1,500 head of first-rate cattle, and 12,000 sheep of ages and sexes as follows,
viz. 1500 ewes, 5 years to aged
4036 ditto, 2, 3, and 4 years to lamb
2200 ditto, weaners
1989 wethers, of ages
2000 ditto, 2, 3, and 4 years
275 rams, of which 15 are imported rams.
 The auctioneers refrain from any lengthy comment on this valuable property, as intending purchasers can inspect it without inconvenience and judge for themselves. They feel compelled, however, to draw attention to the large amount which has been expended on improvements, all of which will be given in with the station. Everything is of the best description, and in PERFECT WORKING ORDER, so that the purchaser will be saved all outlay beyond the current expenses of the station for years to come, an important consideration in the purchase of a property of this character. The run has stood the test of long continued droughts, having a full supply of feed and water in the worst seasons. The sheep and cattle are both unrivalled in the district, and the station altogether presents unusual inducements to investors.
ALSO,
those famous fattening runs in the Bligh district
NIMBEA and LOWER NINGEAR, adjoining the well-known runs of Messrs. M'Crae and Sheridan, Blackman and M'Lean, and Flood, and equal to any in the colony for its fattening qualities. They are situate on Nidgear Creek, to which they have a frontage of ten miles, and are also watered by tributary creeks rendering every portion available.
THE IMPROVEMENTS are complete and substantial. Runs ENCLOSED with good secure fencing, nearly new, two large stockyards, a small shingled house with verandah, and comfortable dwelling-house, with all necessary out offices.
THE AREA is extensive and includes some of the best country in the district. Very heavy drafts of FAT CATTLE have been annually sent to market from these runs. The last sold at £4 10s per head, delivered on the station, during the drought in June last, when best cattle were selling at the Sydney yards for £3 10s to £4.
With the station will be sold
The herd of 2000 head quiet well-bred cattle, from three years and upwards, to be mustered.
 It would be impossible in a short advertisement such as this to enumerate the numerous advantages to be secured by the purchase of these runs, situate as they are in the midst of the markets for fat stock, viz., Sydney, Bathurst, Orange, Forbes, and Dubbo, the country positively unsurpassed, and the cattle good. And if intending purchasers will only take into consideration that the runs are enclosed by a substantial fence, materially reducing the expense of management, as the cattle cannot stray from the run, being in fact in a paddock capable of fattening 4000 head, while the herd now upon it numbers only 2000, of ages from three to five years, all available for immediate sale as fat cattle, they will see that during the ensuing year they will be able to realise upon the whole herd at from £4 to £5, and re-stock the runs with store cattle at a merely nominal price. In fact, the runs and stock upon them ought to double the amount of PURCHASE MONEY in two years.
Also,
GUABATHOO No. 2, and TUDRIGAR SWAMP,
Bligh District,
situate on the Merri Merri Creek, and adjoining Nimbia and Lower Ningear. Estimated area, 40,000 acres.
These runs are acknowledged to be equal to any in the colony for pastoral purposes; they are compact, well grassed, and capable of carrying cattle in all seasons. They have been profitably worked in conjunction with Nimbia and Lower Ningear, and the IMPROVEMENTS comprise a dwelling-house and store—now let for £40 per annum—yards, &c. They are at present unstocked, and admirably adapted for the immediate fattening of sheep or cattle.
☞ The above properties are not placed in our hands to test the market, but are for positive and unreserved sale, should an offer be made in accordance with the present value of such securities. It is only necessary to inspect them to be convinced of the peculiar facilities they offer for realising handsome profits; and now that safe and remunerative investments are so scarce, and money easily obtainable at very low rates of interest, we feel assured that we have only to call the attention of those who have TRUST MONEYS or other capital to invest to these squattages, to ensure immediate inspection, after which we shall have no difficulty in effecting a sale.
